WIRELESS EXHIBITION

MANSION HOUSE • DUBLIN • NOVEMBER 11-14 • ATLANTIC OCEAN

AN exhibition of wireless broadcasting will be opened at the Mansion House, Dublin, this afternoon by Mr. J. J. Walsh, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs. The exhibition, which will be open until Saturday evening, has been organised by the Wireless Society of Ireland, embodied in which is the Dublin Wireless Club and the Radio Association of Ireland. The former of those, established in 1913, is one of the oldest wireless clubs in the world, and one which assisted Marconi in his experimental researches. Its first membership included some who rendered distinguished service in the Great War, and some who will be especially remembered on this the day of remembrance.

The exhibition will include the latest developments of the science and practice of wireless shown by most of the important wholesale firms in Great Britain and some of the Dublin retail dealers.

By an ingenious method of relaying, known as the public address system, the exhibition at the Mansion House will be able to broadcast, both inside and outside the building, the birthday programmes of the British Broadcasting Company, that have seldom been exceeded for variety and quality. They are "big" in the fullest sense of the word, and will be well worth hearing. A few of the items are here mentioned:—

TO-DAY.

4.15 and 6. 0—Band of the Grenadier Guards.
7.10 and 9.30—The London Wireless Orchestra. Conducted by Sir Edward Elgar, O.M.
8.30—"The White Chateau," specially written for broadcasting on Armistice Day.
9.45—"The Roosters," in some Army Reminiscences.

TO-MORROW.

11.0-1.0—The Radio Quartet.
4.15-6.0—Casano's Octet.
8.0—Wilkie Bard in a Radio Review, "Lend Me Your Ears."
9.0—The Prime Minister and the Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, M.P.
9.30—Albert Sammons, the famous violinist.
10.15—Mass Telepathy (an experiment).

FRIDAY.

3.45—Eighth Children's Concert.
7.10—Sir Oliver Lodge, F.R.S.
7.30—"The Valkyrie," by the British National Opera Co. Act III. Conducted by Albert Coates.
9.30—Foreign stations.
10.0—The Right Hon. Viscount Cecil of Chelwood.

SATURDAY.

4.15 and 6. 0—The Wireless Military Band.
6. 0—Broadcast to Europe.
8.0-10.0—Third Birthday of the B.B.C. (An Informal Evening.)
10.0—Charles B. Cochran.

At 2.30 p.m. to-day this exhibition will be opened by Mr. J. J. Walsh, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, and his opening speech will be relayed by the public address system. At 7 o'clock this evening a special message will be transmitted by the B.B.C. to the Wireless Society of Ireland, and received and amplified in the Mansion House.

Intending visitors should note that the hours of opening on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday will be 11 a.m. Closing hour each day, 10.30 p.m.

MR. J. J. WALSH ON DUBLIN'S BROADCASTING STATION.

By J. J. Walsh, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs.

THE opening, in the near future, of a Broadcasting Station at Dublin will be an event of singular importance, and its operations will be followed with great interest, not only in Ireland, but by "the sea-divided Gael."

It will inaugurate what is practically a new departure in the science of broadcasting. In Great Britain, the United States, and in most European countries, broadcasting is entirely in the hands of private companies, working under Government licence. In the few cases where the State owns a station it is used mainly for sending out news, weather forecasts, stock exchange, trade and market reports. Here in the Irish Free State will, for the first time, be a station owned and maintained by the State, which will, in addition to these functions, provide for the entertainment, education, and general cultural development of the people.

MR. J. J. WALSH.

An Influence for Good.

The progress made in broadcasting in the last few years has been very striking, and it is impossible to forecast what further advances may be made in the near future. Already it is an agency of the greatest importance for ministering to the national welfare. Its possible influence on the mind of the country can hardly be over-rated. It can become a greater force than the Press, the pulpit, or the platform. By means of the etheric wave the living voice of the orator or the teacher can be heard in tens of thousands of homes, instead of being listened to by a small number of persons gathered together in a hall, or read by others in the printed page.

Perhaps, the most important use to which broadcasting can be put is as an instrument of popular education. Lectures by competent teachers on such subjects as hygiene, gardening, fruit-growing, bee-keeping, poultry raising, will be of immense value to a people requiring instruction in these matters. Advantage can also be taken of the system by the Department of Agriculture for the dissemination among the rural community of every-day information relating to farming and all its kindred subjects.

Link with the Exiles.

The value of broadcasting as an aid in the teaching of modern languages is manifest, and it is anticipated that the Dublin station will prove a strong helper in the spread of the national language. Through its agency students of modern languages will be enabled to acquire correct pronunciation, imparted by native speakers of these languages.

Lastly, the call of the Dublin station will reach out to the Irish exiles in distant lands, who will by this marvellous development of science be put in intimate connection with the Motherland.

A LINK WITH THE OUTER WORLD.

While the new Dublin Broadcasting Station will send out its own programmes, it can also broadcast the programmes of the stations in Great Britain and Europe to listeners-in in the Free State who possess only the cheaper receiving sets.

It is expected that certain suitable programmes will, in the beginning, be received from Great Britain. From Dublin they will be broadcast through the Free State.

No doubt, Dublin will later extend its operations so as to be able to receive foreign stations, as is done at Hayes, in Middlesex. Then all the European programmes will be available for Irish listeners-in.

The Irish owners of the more elaborate sets who at present try for foreign stations get poor, if any, results by "reaching out" while the British stations are working. The reason is the congested number of broadcasting stations within the coveted wave-length band. The person with a three-valve set, however, can, with some little experience, obtain foreign programmes any time after 11 p.m. On Sunday nights especially the splendid musical programmes from Toulouse, Madrid and San Sebastian can be received after the British stations close for the night.

JACK BINNS'S EXPLOIT RECALLED.

The introduction of wireless to the general public may be said to date from 1909. A long while before then regular communications by means of wireless had been passing, but the interest of the public was of a more or less academic character.

In that year, however, the close association of wireless with everyday affairs was vividly brought to the notice of the whole world. On January 22nd, 1909, the Atlantic liner Republic, with a party of American millionaires on board, bound for a cruise in European waters, came into collision with the emigrant steamer Florida. For the first time in history wireless was used to distribute a general call for help in circumstances involving immediate danger to hundreds of lives.

The general distress call in those days, "C.Q.D."—now superseded by "S.O.S."—was tapped out by the heroic operator, Jack Binns, who, in peril of his life, remained at his post. The call was heard, and among other vessels which rushed to the aid of the damaged ship was the White Star liner Baltic, which performed valuable rescue work by taking on board the passengers before the Republic sank.

The incident might have ended there as far as the impression upon the public mind was concerned, but on the Baltic there happened to be a representative of a cinematograph company, who was bearing films of the Messina earthquake to New York.

He saw the possibilities of a story in the wreck with the part played by wireless, and turned it to account in a subsequent film drama, entitled "C.Q.D., or Saved by Wireless." The film, when shown all over the world, made a deep impression upon those who saw it, especially the scenes reconstructed in an American studio showing the damaged vessels, with the wireless cabin and Jack Binns sending out his distress signals.

By means of this film the limitless possibilities of the new science were first brought to the notice of the public.

MR. VINCENT O'BRIEN.

NEW ENTERPRISE WELCOMED.

A MESSAGE FROM 2 LO.

BY J. C. W. REITH,
Managing Director of the B.B.C.

THE British Broadcasting Company is particularly interested in the Dublin Broadcasting Station, which is about to be inaugurated under the auspices of the Government of the Irish Free State. We are glad to do everything in our power to assist the Free State authorities in their new enterprise.

We feel that the Irish Free State enters the ether at an opportune moment in the general development of broadcasting. We are now on the threshold of the international era, in the course of which the medium of wireless will permit a free exchange of thought and culture between all nations, continents, and races.

We are convinced that the Irish branch of the Celtic race has a definite contribution to offer in the full development of broadcasting for the benefit of humanity.

We wish the Dublin Station every success, and we shall be glad to co-operate with it whenever possible.

COST OF MAINTAINING A SET.

THE present development of wireless broadcasting in the Irish Free State is to be credited to a few enthusiasts who, for almost two years past, have struggled against difficulties in the expectation that the new science would ultimately come into its own. Among those is Mr. W. D. Hogan, of Henry street, Dublin, whose views on broadcasting were given to an Irish Times representative yesterday.

"In the course of extended tours through the country during the past year," said Mr. Hogan, "I was much struck by the absence of knowledge of what wireless broadcasting really is, and the high state of perfection to which it has been brought. This was, no doubt, due to the absence of an Irish broadcasting station, but this drawback has now been removed, and, with the early opening of the Dublin station, the great advantages which this new science bestows can be enjoyed by the masses at a very low cost, indeed.

Cost of Upkeep.

"For those living within 30 miles or so of the city, reception will be possible for the expenditure of little more than twenty shillings on a crystal set. Those living beyond that distance can, with the aid of a one or two-valve set, costing from £4 upwards, also bring themselves within the range of the Dublin station; and, indeed, after a little skill in working the set has been acquired, direct reception of the many British and Continental programmes becomes easily possible.

"The valve set costs about a penny per day for upkeep of batteries; but, with the crystal set, the first cost is the last.

Lectures at Home.

"Wireless broadcasting appeals first as a means of musical entertainment, and its scope in this sphere will be under the able direction of Mr. Vincent O'Brien, whose name is a household word to lovers of music. Perhaps, the more important service which broadcasting can render is the unlimited scope which it affords for the dissemination of knowledge. The facilities it provides in the educational field are boundless.

"Lectures of university standard may be heard in the homes of all. For the farmer, forecasts of weather will be given, and instructions in all branches of agriculture will be broadcast. A full service of the most important news items of the world will be sent out at definite times.

"Teaching of Irish and foreign languages by the oral method will, no doubt, find a place in the programme. The relaying of programmes from the Abbey or Gaiety Theatres will provide added variety.

Finding New Stars.

"Broadcasting will also provide an opening for many Irish vocalists and instrumentalists, and possibly be the direct means of bringing them before the public, who would soon recognise art in their performance. Thus the broadcasting may be the means of adding further Irish "stars" to the world's musical celebrities.

"It is to be hoped that the powers that be will "run" "2RN" (the Dublin Station call sign) on similar lines to that of the B.B.C., and, if so, success is assured.

"A point worth noting is that a crystal set is capable of supplying several pairs of phones within a reasonable distance of "2RN"—i.e., 20 miles."

SALMON ROD LICENCES.

PROTEST AGAINST INCREASE UNDER NEW ACT.

The Letterkenny Fishery Board, at its last meeting, passed a resolution viewing with apprehension the clause in the present Fishery Act increasing the salmon rod licence from £1 to £2 for resident fishermen. The Council believed that this increase would, through force of circumstances, compel the greater number of those who had always acted legally to take to illegal practices; and it suggested an amending clause giving a rebate on licence duty to salmon fishermen who are members of an anglers' association, and a 5s. licence duty on all trout fishermen.

The Board has requested the Ministry of Fisheries to add to its district the portion east of Malin, in Inishowen, as the revenue accruing from that area would materially assist the finances of the Board.

The Conservative Party have been coquetting with the subject of profit-sharing, but everyone appears to be shy of advocating share in management as well as share in profits.—Sir Ellis Hume-Williams, Bart.

LOSSES ON COUNTY LOUTH COTTAGES.

PURCHASE SCHEME UNDER CONSIDERATION.

That over £3,000 per year was being lost to the county by losses on the labourers' cottages in the County Louth was shown at a meeting of the Board of Health, when the members were asked to consider the position.

The Chairman (Mr. McGahon) said that the members would be asked to consider whether the existing tenants could not have their rents increased, or be compelled to keep the cottages in repair, or whether the best plan would be to sell the houses to the tenants. When the cottages were built the wages of the agricultural labourers were very low, and the cottages were let at a proportionately low rent of 11d. per week for a house and a plot of half an acre, or sometimes an acre, of land.

Mr. M. Campbell said that he had formulated a scheme some time ago, by which the tenants could purchase their cottages at £50 down, or at a weekly sum, the tenants to do the repairs, pending the sale, but the Minister had held it back, stating that he was considering a scheme for the entire county.

Several members objected to the cottages, which were such a burden on the ratepayers of the county, being held by unmarried men, and others who did not live in them, and it was also complained that many of the plots attached to the cottages were untilled.

There are too many miners.—Mr. Winston Churchill.

AMERICAN SHIP'S TRYING ORDEAL.

GRAPHIC FIRST-HAND DESCRIPTION.

A graphic description of a trying ordeal in face of terrible weather was told by one of the officers of the cableship Lord Kelvin (2,641 tons), which arrived at Queenstown yesterday. The Lord Kelvin was reported to be seriously damaged in mid Atlantic last Saturday, having encountered the full fury of a south-westerly gale during Friday night, which carried away all the forward superstructure of the ship, flooded the cabins and the saloon, and washed overboard the deck fittings. Huge seas struck the vessel broadside on, and it was only through the good seamanship of Captain Bates, the vessel's commander, that she weathered the gale.

On Saturday the vessel was 825 miles west of Queenstown, and making for Belfast; but yesterday it was decided, in view of her bad condition, to make for Queenstown. "The majority of the crew of 35 were asleep late on Friday night," said one of the Lord Kelvin's officers, "when huge seas struck us broadside on. All the boats were smashed into matchwood and the deck fittings carried away."

THRILLING RESCUE.

A rush of water into the engineroom put all the engines out of order and plunged the ship into darkness. The covers of the tank hatches were stove in, admitting water into the holds; these were after some time secured, and the ship made seaworthy again.

"Several huge buoys, each weighing a ton, became loosened, but Chief Officer Foote, with a number of seamen, after great difficulty, succeeded in securing them. Several of the men received injuries to the face, legs and arms while engaged in the work. Mr. Foote was caught by a huge wave, and was just going over board when a big Newfoundlander caught him by the collar and pulled him on deck again.

"Fortunately our steering gear remained intact, and we were able to turn around and run before the gale on Saturday morning. Owing to engineroom telegraphs being carried away, orders were carried by relays of men, an extremely dangerous method of communication in foggy or bad weather. Early on Saturday morning we almost collided with two other ships; they could not see us at all. Our lights were out, and it was only by making flares and shouting that our presence was made known to them." Temporary repairs will probably be effected at Queenstown to enable the ship to proceed to Newcastle-on-Tyne for docking.

NORTHERN IRELAND COMMAND.

MAJOR-GENERAL CAMERON'S SUCCESSOR.

Major-General F. F. Ready, C.B., C.S.I., C.M.G., D.S.O., Director of Personal Services at the War Office, has been appointed to command the troops in Northern Ireland, in succession to Major-General A. R. Cameron, C.B., C.M.G.

Major-General Ready will assume the command on the 1st of January next, and Major-General Cameron will take up a post at the War Office.

Major-General Ready is a son of the late Colonel J. T. Ready, of Hawkhurst, Kent. He entered the Army in 1891, and served in the Soudan, the South African and the European war. In the last-named war he was mentioned in despatches, and was promoted Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel and Brevet Colonel. After the European war Major-General Ready had charge of administration in Dublin from 1919 to 1921, and was transferred afterwards to the War Office.

IRELAND'S TRANSPORT NEEDS.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE COUNTRYSIDE.

Speaking at a meeting of the Kilkenny branch of the Irish Motorists' Union in Kilkenny yesterday, Mr. E. A. Aston said he believed that the advantage of motor transport to the agricultural community in Ireland would be immeasurable, as it tended to increase the value of the land. Grazing or dairy land had increased in value within a radius of ten to fifteen miles of Dublin, and was actually decreasing within a mile of the borders of the city. As long as he could remember there had been a cry in this country, "Back to the land."

The deadness of the countryside had made it unattractive for the young men of Ireland. What the young men wanted was excitement and to keep more in touch with the towns. The method of dealing with that problem was improved transport. He envisaged the countryside served by motor 'buses, but he suggested that cheap motor transport would have an incalculable reaction. Social and economic life reacted very closely upon each other. He did not care how good their cars were or how efficient their drivers if they had not good roads they had not the unquestionable essential as far as transport was concerned.

TRAFFIC WEIGHTS.

On the 15th October there was an official pronouncement from the Minister for Local Government issuing a restrictive order covering weights of the road traffic. In addition to the utterance of the Minister for Local Government, there was a remarkable statement made by Mr. Shaw, T.D., at the West-meath County Council on November 7th, that the Government refused to allow the Council to borrow money for road improvement, because he had an interview with the Minister who told him that the Minister for Finance would not sanction the proposal owing to the loss to the railways.

If this is the policy of the Government, said Mr. Aston, I suggest that the time has come that we should get busy and see that the Government will take action. County Surveyors had reported to their Councils all over the country that they could not openly advocate schemes of road development, as it would cause damage to the railways. He (Mr. Aston) suggested that no doctrine was more likely to defeat itself than that doctrine. He did not think that railway companies were going to survive by suppressing competition. Railways must be profitable or unprofitable as a country economically rises or falls.

LICENSING OF BULLS.

POSITION IN CO. DUBLIN.

As a result of the operation of the Live Stock Breeding Act, 1925, 58 bulls of 189 presented for licence were rejected, according to a letter from the Department of Agriculture, which was read at a meeting of the Dublin County Committee of Agriculture at the Dublin County Council offices yesterday. The Department suggests that, in view of the elimination of these animals, the Committee should endeavour to locate additional high-class bulls for premium purposes, in order to afford farmers an opportunity of grading up their stock, and to encourage them to breed and retain none but bulls of good quality.

The Clerk (Mr. T. Ward) pointed out that the Committee had provided for twenty premiums. Last year there had been thirteen applications for premiums, but owing to the high prices prevailing for bulls, only one man took out the premium.

In reply to the Chairman (Mr. P. Belton), the Clerk pointed out that the normal number of bulls required for County Dublin was about 280.

The Chairman said that licences had been granted for only 130 bulls, so that they were from 150 to 200 bulls short of the Committee's requirements. That was a very serious matter, and should be brought before the attention of the Department.

Mr. Walsh asked was it not a fact that the Department had issued an order some time ago for the reduction of premiums.

The Clerk said that was the case.

The Chairman said that there appeared to be subject matter for a lengthy communication to the Department, and after further discussion it was decided that the Clerk should write to the Department explaining the position as regards the shortage of bulls, the necessity for increasing the premiums, and also for an increased grant for live stock purposes.

THE RENAISSANCE IN FRANCE.

DR. GRANT ROBERTSON'S LECTURE.

WAR'S INFLUENCE ON CULTURE.

Dr. C. Grant Robertson, C.V.O., Principal of Birmingham University, began the new series of Lady Ardilaun Lectures on French History, at Alexandra College, Dublin, yesterday. He has given the Lady Ardilaun Lectures for the past four or five years. He was introduced by the Archbishop of Dublin (the Most Rev. Dr. Gregg) yesterday as an established institution there.

The general subject of the course is France in the period of the Renaissance and the Reformation (1483-1560). The three remaining lectures of the series will deal with phases of the Italian wars in that period; the lecture yesterday was introductory, discussing Renaissance and Reformation influences, and problems of policy which concerned the rulers of France when they undertook the Italian wars.

The period from the death of Louis XI., in 1483, to the accession of Francis II., in 1560, the lecturer said, had a unity of its own, occupied, from the internal point of view, by the Renaissance and the Reformation; and, from the external point of view, by the Italian wars. The Italian direction of French enterprise at this period was made possible by the success of Louis XI. in bringing Burgundy under his control, the result of that being that there was a path from Paris—direct access over directly French territory—to the principal passes over the Alps. Though made possible, however, that direction was not the most obvious direction of French pressure outwards. It had been one of the most debatable questions in French history—at the time and ever since—why the French Monarchy began, and continued for seventy years, to waste its resources and scatter its powers beyond the natural barrier of the Alps, while it neglected measures to make its territory safe against the threat of encroachment by enemies on the open and artificial Flemish frontier to the North-East.

ROUTE OF ARMIES AND IDEAS.

The main point of the introductory picture was expressed by Dr. Grant Robertson when he said that the routes by which people and armies went in and out of a country were also those by which ideas passed to and fro. By the route which the French King's soldiers passed into Italy, the ideas of the Renaissance passed from Italy to France. That tide of ideas from the South met the formerly prevailing tide from the North-East—from the Rhine—in the Valley of the Loire, which became more and more the cultural centre of France.

Between the period of culture which succeeded the stream of Renaissance influences from Italy, and the period of the Hundred Years War, when life was "nasty, poor, brutish, solitary and short," the contrast was extraordinary. To see what had happened in the interval, the way was not to trace events year by year, and reign by reign, but to look at the French that was being written, the books that were printed, the pictures painted, the sculpture modelled, the buildings designed and decorated in 1560; and to compare them with the like evidence in 1483: Ronsard with Villon, beautiful residences with mediæval castle, classical graces in art with the former style.

The study of Greek led to the study of French, to the desire to make the French language a well-ordered language, as Greek was. In 1532 a text-book of French Prosody was issued, and it examined the rules to be followed in writing French that would be—note the word—"classical." a term that was unknown and would have been unmeaning in France in 1483.

That, said the lecturer, after discussing the significance of such men as Rabelais, Calvin, and Loyola, was the great and noteworthy development in the period, which was also the period of those great enterprises of conquest, that had their main theatre in Italy. The Italian wars, to which the rulers of France were led by reports, on the one hand, that Italy contained numerous small and disunited States, incapable of resisting a strong Power, and, on the other hand, that Italy was a land flowing with milk and honey, were interesting in their own way, but were more significant in their repercussion on French culture. The French mind, as the Renaissance and the Reformation left it, was the mind of France down to the Revolution, and even longer, and that was a decisive factor, not only in French history, but in the history of the world.

CARL ROSA OPERA COMPANY.

"THE BARBER OF SEVILLE."

Rossini's opera, "The Barber of Seville," on its production by the Carl Rosa Opera Company at the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin, last night, came new to most of the audience. Only the older generation remembers it as a regular ingredient of operatic repertoires. One performance, however, has been given in Dublin within the past twenty-five years; that was by a small Italian company, the Castellano Company, on one of its visits shortly before the war.

Covent Garden kept the "Barber of Seville" in its list so long as the Italian tradition prevailed at that famous opera house; for it was a recognised vehicle for the display of vocal virtuosity in the Italian manner, and many a prima donna scored her triumph in it. As well as the music of the opera itself, which is designed to give the principals plenty of opportunity for vocal display, there is the opening left in what is known as the Music Lesson scene for the introduction of whatever songs the prima donna of the occasion may choose to perform. There, of course, a Tetrazzini—to mention one of the most prominent instances in recent times—could have a great time.

Last night the opera gave scope for the exercise of Miss Jennie Bleasdale's accomplishments in the Italian convention. Mr. Ben Williams was her "opposite," and Messrs. Appleton, Moore, Leslie Jones, John Kelly, and Frederick Clendon also had places in the cast, the production, as a whole, being in the charge of Mr. André Skalski.

CRITICISMS OF LOUTH BOARD OF HEALTH.

CHAIRMAN DEFINES POSITION.

Replying to criticisms of the Louth Board of Health, the Chairman (Mr. McGahon), at the meeting of that body in Dundalk, said that he would like, if it were possible, that all the members of the County Council should be appointed on their committees with them, in order that they should share the work and the responsibility of the Board. Vicious misrepresentations had been made as to their position financially. They had at one time overdrawn their account at the bank, but that was chiefly due to the fact that the estimate submitted at the beginning of the year by the most experienced Poor Law official in the county had been cut down by the County Council by more than £5,000, and to the fact that they had spent considerably over £1,000 on repairing a hospital at Ardee, which was not included in the estimate.

He gave figures for the half-year, showing that the main increase in their expenditure was in respect of home assistance, which accounted for £489 more than they had estimated.

The other members agreed with the Chairman's statement and with his motion that members of the County Council should be appointed on their local committees, with power to vote, etc.

Mr. Hamill stated that some members of the County Council thought that they were belittled by not having a vote on the committees.

QUEEN'S NURSES.

Queen Alexandra has been pleased to approve the appointments of the following to be Queen's Nurses, to date 1st October, 1925: Mary Boyle, Dublin—St. Lawrence's; Sara Baird, Ann Grills and Martha Tyner, Dublin—St. Patrick's.

The Prince of Wales dined with the King and Queen last evening.

NEW TURN IN THE BELFAST INQUIRY.

HARDWARE CONTRACTS INVESTIGATED.

Mr. R. D. Megaw, K.C., the Commissioner, with Messrs. Swiney and Knox, assessors, resumed the inquiry into the Belfast Corporation housing schemes yesterday.

It was intimated at the outset that the question of hardware contracts would be considered. A large pile of files and documents were brought into the inquiry room on a truck and placed on a table for reference during the proceedings.

The Commissioner signed an attendance order requiring the presence of certain witnesses whose names were not disclosed.

Mr. Leech, K.C. (who, with Mr. W. Lowry and Mr. J. C. MacDermott, appears for a committee of ratepayers), intimated that they did not propose to investigate further quantities for the direct labour houses at Woodvale, Oldpark and Stranmillis, as they were satisfied with the measurements made by the surveyors.

Counsel then dealt with the question of tenders for hardware, and said that in the course of the inquiry the Commissioner would see some curious things. He said that the amount paid to Mr. David Ingram in certain instances was in excess of the amount of the tender.

THE HARDWARE ACCOUNTS.

Mr. Hugh Boyd, who examined the hardware accounts from November, 1924, to March, 1925, was then examined. In the more important items which appeared to be unreasonable, the witness said that he was informed that a check price was obtained from another trader, but nothing was done in regard to the smaller items. Copies of the quotations were not kept in the accountant's department. The witness had found that certain items in the invoice were not included in the tender.

Mr. Leech, K.C., next drew attention to tender prices for sash cords, which was 11d. instead of 1s. 9d., which was, he said, the amount charged.

Continuing his evidence, the witness was taken to the Skegoniel site, and examined in relation to facia hooks supplied.

In answer to the Commissioner, the witness said that the total amount of payments over five months for hardware was £2,014 18s. 11d., and he had calculated that the tender prices should represent less than that. He added that he had checked the prices with lists obtained from a Derry merchant. He had not come across any case of goods being returned because of overcharging. Another item that was challenged was hinges, for which there was a tender price per cwt. He called the attention of Mr. Wardlow to this fact. He had ascertained there was a recognised average weight per dozen pairs of various sizes, and, based on this, there was an overcharge. In some instances it would represent from 60 to over 100 per cent. on the tender prices. In regard to sash cords the price, according to the tender, was 11s., but there appeared in the invoices 21s. The witness explained that orders were sometimes marked "superior," and sometimes merely marked "sash cords." On the delivery dockets there were different descriptions, but all were charged at the one price.

Mr. Leech, K.C.—Were there in any cases under the schedule an undercharge?

Witness—Yes, for two or three small items. We have given credit for that in the calculations we have made.

The witness then gave evidence that in regard to casement stays the quotation was from 6d. to 1s.

The Commissioner—That allows a great latitude when the price is left from 6d. to 1s.

Witness—That is just why we are drawing attention to it. All the items are charged at 1s.

The witness also said that there was another item quoted at from 4d. to 9d., and all were charged at the latter figure.

OTHER ITEMS.

Dealing with facia hooks, witness said a large number were supplied at 1s. each. In February, 1924, Mr. Ingram quoted for these at 6s. a dozen, and in the following month 12s. a dozen was charged. These items were not included in any tender or quotation. Another contractor had supplied these earlier at 5s. a dozen. Witness also gave particulars in regard to other overcharges for items supplied, and stated that the total overpayments for the five months came to £239 6s. 6d., or 11.8 per cent. on the total hardware invoices. The items outside the tender represented 27 per cent. of Mr. Ingram's total.

The witness said that the overpayments on tender items was £43 10s. 5d., or 6.2 per cent. on the total tender items charged. The overpayments on non-tender items totalled £125 6s. 8d., or 82.8 per cent. on the suggested correct figure of £151 3s. 4d. The total suggested overpayments for the three months of £168 17s. 1d. represent 16.6 per cent. on the turnover. The non-tender items for that three months represented 27.3 per cent. of Ingram's total, or 17 per cent. of the total with their corrected figures adopted.

In cross-examination by Mr. E. S. Murphy, K.C. (who, with Mr. A. Black, M.P., represents the Corporation), the witness said that, apart from non-tender or non-contract prices, the figures that he had given depended upon information given to him by an expert in the trade

DERRY WITNESS'S EVIDENCE.

Mr. Jacob Whyte, of Messrs. Crockett and Guy, hardware merchants, Derry, stated that the 3ds. 6d. per cwt. for Scotch T hinges was a good keen price at the time. That would work out at 4½d. per pair hinges, which had been charged at 9d., or over 100 per cent. overcharge. In the case of facia hooks the price charged of 1s. per hook was extremely high. The proper price would be 4d. each. In looking at the houses on the site there were three facia hooks on each six foot length of gutter, which cost 2s. 6d., so that there was 3s. worth of hooks holding up each 2s. 6d. worth of spouting. The tendency of prices in hardware had been slowly downward. He took samples of hat and coat hooks from the houses. The price charged for those was 36s. and 48s. a gross. He found very few of the better kind of hooks in the houses. The cheaper ones would be 15s. a gross on the market.

Continuing, the witness, producing a sash cord, said he had been at the Stranmillis site, and, as far as he could see, the window there were casement, as also was the case at Whiterock. He inquired what did they use superior sash cord for, and he was informed by a workman that it was for fastening the slating ladders to the roof. He admitted that the price of 21s. for superior sash cord was low, but it was never used in houses of this class. To charge 21s. for No. 4 sash cord was far too high. He then produced for inspection a casement stay, which, he said, was quoted at from 6d. to 1s., and throughout he believed the charge was 1s.

Mr. White then said that a fair price for casement stays was 5d., and they were charged for at 1s., while for fasteners 5d. was a fair price, as against the 9d. charged. He did not think there was any such variation as 4d. to 9d. For tower bolts Mr. Ingram charged 9s. a dozen. The proper price was 4s. 6d. It was a slightly cheaper to-day than then.

The inquiry adjourned.

MASONIC ORPHAN BOYS' SCHOOL

The half-yearly meeting of the Board of Governors of the Masonic Orphan Boys' School was held yesterday at the Schoolhouse, Clonskeagh, when the report of the scrutineers of the ballot for the admission of six pupils was read.

It was unanimously resolved that the six candidates who obtained the highest number of votes be elected. Accordingly, William G. Hall (8,601), John McDougal (6,891), George Willis (5,524), James F. Reynolds (5,466), William G. Cooper (4,499), Norman C. Clark (3,841) were declared duly elected pupils of the School.

TWO DUBLIN FIRES.

The Dublin Fire Brigade was called to two outbreaks of fire in the city last night—at Mr. Patrick Kennedy's licensed premises, 27 Parliament street, and Dobb's Stores, Crown alley. In each case it was found that timber near the fireplace had been set alight, and both fires were extinguished before much damage had been done.

THE NORTHERN COMMONS.

PROTEST AGAINST ADJOURNMENT.

PRIME MINISTER AND BOUNDARY REPORTS.

In the Northern House of Commons yesterday Mr. Devlin entered a protest against the adjournment of the House until December 8th, as he considered that, in view of the state of trade and commerce, they should remain in session. He complained of the recent absence of the Prime Minister in London when the unemployed problem was discussed in the House.

Sir James Craig, in his reply, stated that he was in London endeavouring to get work started for the unemployed on the new Parliament Buildings in Belfast.

The Prime Minister afterwards declared emphatically that he had not discussed the boundary question when in London.

THE ADJOURNMENT.

MR. DEVLIN PROTESTS.

Mr. Barbour moved the adjournment of the House until December 8.

Mr. Devlin said that it was entirely wrong for that Parliament to adjourn for a period of four weeks. He thought that, in view of the present condition of trade and commerce, it was eminently desirable that the House should remain in session. They on the Opposition side had made repeated attempts to have a full and adequate discussion on unemployment, and that privilege, or, rather, right, had been denied to them by the refusal of the Prime Minister and the Minister of Finance to attend in their places when that most intelligibly urgent question came before the House for discussion.

The Prime Minister, intervening, said that when the date was fixed he had no idea that he would have to go to London. It was only subsequently that he got a telegram asking him to cross over on very urgent business connected with Ulster affairs. His right hon. friend, Mr. Andrews, was in the position to answer the whole discussion and receive any suggestions which hon. gentlemen wished to make. He was astonished when he read in the newspapers that hon. members had walked out, and he thought that they did not do any service to the province by that act. A vote of censure was subsequently put down, and he gave the 8th December to consider it. That, he thought, was treating the Opposition very fairly. They had not treated his right hon. friend with any of the courtesy that was due to him for all his services. He (the Prime Minister) would have been inclined to have given an earlier rate, but, having regard to the want of courtesy shown to the Minister of Labour, he was now adamant.

NO DISCOURTESY INTENDED.

Mr. Devlin—It does not concern me in the least degree whether the right hon. gentleman is adamant or not. The right hon. gentleman can pursue his own course, and I, in pursuance of what I conceive to be my duty, can pursue mine. But I do resent the suggestion that any discourtesy was intended to the right hon. gentleman, the Minister of Labour. There is no member who can less express resentment at my conduct towards him, either in the Unemployment Conferences or here in this House. I have never withheld from him a just and even generous tribute to his work. And I may point out to the right hon. gentleman that repeatedly in the Unemployment Conference, when I raised matters that were very important—on one occasion, particularly, the second meeting of the Unemployment Conference—I was always met, when I made any suggestions there, with one answer from the right hon. gentleman—that that was not a matter for him; that it was a matter for the Government.

When any matters of this sort are discussed in the absence of the Prime Minister and the Minister of Finance, the Minister of Labour can only speak in a departmental capacity. He cannot speak on questions of policy, nor can he deal with the wider questions of finance. There are matters eminently and absolutely within the power—alone within the power—of the Prime Minister and of the Minister of Finance. I wanted to know from the Government what their policy was with regard to unemployment. I wanted to know, which was more important, had they any policy at all. I can only find that out in the presence of the Prime Minister.

The Prime Minister has stated that he did not attend the House because he got an urgent telegram from London. I think he ought to have replied to that telegram and told whatever Treasury official in London summoned the Prime Minister of this our Northern Parliament to meet him in London that he had more important matters to discuss than some trifling question with a clerk at Whitehall—the question of taking into his confidence not only the Parliament but the people of Ulster as to what his policy was with regard to the question of unemployment.

PRIME MINISTER'S REPLY.

The Prime Minister—I think I ought to correct the hon. member. If he thinks that I was summoned by some clerk from some department he is entirely wrong. The Ministers of His Majesty's Government invited me to discuss matters of great importance. I have always decided in my own mind whether a matter to be discussed is of paramount importance to Ulster's affairs. If it is, I always accept the invitation. Nothing that I could say or do here could in any way have helped unemployment. I thought to endorse every word that my right hon. friend said on that occasion. Of course, the House will, I think, agree that since we sat from the very first day in this House I have endeavoured to be in my place on all occasions—(Hon. Members—"Hear, hear")—that I could possibly come. (Hon. Members—"Hear, hear.") The only occasions when I am absent from this House are when I can better serve Ulster elsewhere.

Mr. Devlin—We have all our own conceptions of what our duty is in this matter. I still insist, notwithstanding what has been said, that, while the Prime Minister's absence on ordinary occasions may be permissible and justifiable, I do not think in this case it was either permissible or justifiable, when he selected it himself, and the subject was one of such imperative need to the community.

What I insist on is this. Since we have not got the views of the Prime Minister on the question of unemployment, and since we do not know where we are on the question of finance, and since both those Ministers were not here on that occasion, I claim that the 8th December is too far ahead. That is my point. The right hon. gentleman the Leader of the Opposition has been prepared with his motion. He was prepared on that day. It was his motion, not mine. I think he ought to be given an opportunity before the 8th of December to discuss it.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION.

Mr. S. Kyle (leader of the Labour Party) also protested against the adjournment. It was quite true that the members of the Government had given a considerable amount of lip-service to the cause of the unemployed and to doing their level best in their own departments in trying to bring schemes for relief. That is all very true. There is no one who has done more in that respect than the right hon. gentleman the Minister of Labour. That is not enough. On the morning that I drew up this vote or motion of no confidence, or whatever you like to call it, was when I realised that the right hon. gentleman the Prime Minister of Northern Ireland and the right hon. gentleman the Minister of Finance thought so little of this House as to go away to London to discuss whatever affair it was. And I notice the right hon. gentleman the Prime Minister did not tell us exactly what that business was. Each of us has his own opinion. We noticed, of course, that other members of another Parliament were also summoned to London on that day, too. One immediately thought that it was to settle the affairs of the country and probably—

The Prime Minister—I think it would be very serious if anything of the kind went out. My conversations with the British Government were concerned solely and entirely with the progress of work upon our Parliamentary and administrative buildings, with a view, if possible, to get more work for the class of unemployed we require work for.

Mr. Devlin—There is plenty of work for the builders.

The Prime Minister—It was not a question of work for builders at all. It was a question of getting work for the class of persons to whom relief work is invaluable. I do not want hon. members' words to go out to the public that it had anything whatever to do with meetings of representatives of the Free State to discuss the boundary. I never met a single one of them, and no single member of His Majesty's Government mentioned the question of boundary to me while I was over there.

Mr. Kyle—I am very glad to have that assurance. When it appeared in the Press the following morning, a good many people thought it was not the erection of a talking shop, or even the erection of administrative offices. It was because I saw in the Press that the Prime Minister had gone to London that I put down this vote of no confidence. I think December the 8th is much too long to wait. I want to indict the Government on the way the Government have misled this House on certain matters.

The House divided on the motion, which was carried by 18 votes to 4.

A SINN FEIN FLAG.

Mr. T. W. M'Mullan asked the Minister of Home Affairs what information the police have gathered with regard to a Sinn Fein flag which was placed in a tree at the residence of Mr. M'Gifford, Crumlin Lodge, Hillsboro', on the occasion of His Grace the Governor's official entrance into residence at Hillsboro' Castle, and what steps the authorities have taken or propose to take against the perpetrators?

Minister of Home Affairs—The facts of the incident referred to in this question are as follows:—Information was conveyed to the police on the morning of the 10th ultimo that a Sinn Fein flag was flying from a tree in the avenue of the residence referred to, and the police had the flag immediately removed. Every effort is being made to make the persons who were responsible for this outrage amenable. It would, however, be contrary to the public interest to indicate what steps have been or may be taken by the authorities in the case.

Mr. Devlin—Hurrah!

Mr. W. M'Mullen asked if it was a fact that a white blackbird was observed on the same occasion.

SUGGESTED ECONOMIES.

Mr. Crawford asked the Prime Minister whether, in the interests of public economy, he could introduce legislation so that the salary of the incoming Attorney-General shall be at least £1,000 less than that paid to his predecessor.

The Minister of Finance—No, sir. In view of the fact that this House so recently as 1923 unanimously gave legislative sanction to the increase of the salary of the Attorney-General, the Government do not propose to make any change. The House will not need to be reminded that the gentlemen who from time to time fulfil

BRITISH and FOREIGN PATENTS have been ACQUIRED in connection with a PROCESS and PLANT for the FURTHER-DRYING by ARTIFICIAL HEAT of PEATS that have been to a great extent air-dried, and other materials.
THESE PATENTS are FOR SALE in the first place to British Firms, and failing these to Firms Abroad. Terms and Conditions will be given to any large Firm of Boilermarkers or Engineers in Great Britain who make direct inquiry. No information or demonstrations will be given to Company Promoters, Solicitors, Law Agents, or Accountants, or other Agents. Information in the form of Certified Reports by Competent Authorities is available for production to approved Inquirers; and Demonstrations will be given on acceptance by intending buyers of the terms and conditions that are required.
The Plant has also been adapted for the Evaporation of Liquids and for the Generation of Steam. One great objection in all modern steam boilers is that the end plate at the back of the boiler becomes coated with sediment owing to the low temperatures experienced. By firing from both ends of the boiler simultaneously and by having uniform heating at most parts of the boiler, great economies can be effected in the evaporation of liquids and therefore in steam raising. It is expected that the steam boiler types of plant will be particularly adaptable for yachts and vessels attending harbour officials and Admiralty dockyards.
Boilermakers and Engineers are referred to the published reports of the Fuel Research Board about the Peat Areas that are presently being worked and Potential Areas in all the Counties of the Northern Hemisphere.
No application for Shares of this Company will be considered, and no transfer of existing Shares will be permitted.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

Sir James Craig, speaking yesterday in the Northern Ireland Parliament, said that his recent visit to London had nothing whatever to do with meeting representatives of the Free State to discuss the boundary. He did not meet a single one of them, and no single member of His Majesty's Government mentioned the question of the boundary to him.—(Page 5.)

Dr. C. Grant-Robertson, Principal of Birmingham University, yesterday delivered the first of a series of the Lady Ardilaun lectures in Alexandra College, Dublin, on the Renaissance in France.—(Page 5.)

Remembrance Day will be observed in Dublin and Belfast to-day.—(Page 7.)

ABROAD.

The French Cabinet crisis is still unsolved.—(Page 7.)

SPORTING.

At Lincoln yesterday Nevermore won the Lincoln Autumn Handicap.—(Page 10.)

At Cheltenham Manser's Pride won the Coventry Novices' Steeplechase.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were dull. Rubbers were weak and Foreign Rails strong.—(Page 12.)

Loanable credits were in better supply in Lombard street, and overnight advances were made at 3½ to 3¾ per cent. Discount rates were not so firm.—(Page 13.)

Dublin Stock Market was quiet and steady. Guinness and Courtaulds closed unchanged. Sewing Cottons and Coats were firm spots.—(Page 12.)

1914-1925.

And some there be which have no memorial; who are perished as though they had never been . . . Their bodies are buried in peace; but their name liveth for evermore.

Seven years ago to-day the last shot was fired in the greatest conflict that the world has known. After four and a half years of death and ruin mankind was freed from the thraldom of war, and the news that the Armistice had been signed on the Western front sent a wave of new hope surging through the breast of humanity. The years have passed, and in their passing have begun to dim the memories of those awful days when civilisation seemed to be toppling to its fall; but on this day we who remain devote our thoughts to that great multitude of gallant men whose lives were given gladly for freedom. We think, with sad pride, of the thousands of young Irish soldiers whose blood drenched the soil of France and Flanders, who fell on the bullet-swept battle-fields of Gallipoli and Palestine, who found their rest in the depths of the seven seas. Ireland has not forgotten her children. They did honour to her name in a thousand fights. From Ypres to the Somme, from the Marne to the Struma, wherever there was fighting to be done Irish soldiers were in the forefront of the fray. Our Irish regiments won imperishable fame in those dark years, and now some of the best of them have been disbanded; but the example which they set is still before their people. They expressed by their deeds those ideals of loyal service and singleness of mind which ought to be the aims of every Irish citizen to-day. They, with their millions of comrades of other nations, did not hesitate to throw their lives into the dread hazard of war for their country's sake; and they have laid on us, into whose hands their torch of endeavour has fallen, a responsibility of which we have yet to prove ourselves worthy.

World peace is still a dream. The ideals for which the war was fought seem to have been buried in the graves of those men who died, and, although during the last few months there has been an effort to bring about a general reconciliation among those who fought on different sides, the condition of the world at the moment is not encouraging. It is a sobering fact that there are many more armed men on the Continent of Europe to-day than there were in 1914. Germany has been forced to reduce her army to a skeleton in accordance with the ruling of the Versailles Treaty; but this reduction has been countered by the creation of new armies in Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, the former of which is a stronger military Power than Great Britain. In the background lurks Soviet Russia, with her "Red" army of more than a million fighting men. Outside the pale of civilisation, she knows no law. The League of Nations may issue its peace compelling edicts, but so long as Russia remains in isolation they will have no real force in the world. Nobody knows the mind of the men who control the destinies of this great nation. The counsels of the Kremlin are as mysterious as they are sinister; but we may be sure that they portend no good to Europe. Where is peace to be found? France is engaged in two minor wars; Italy is still living on the brink of the unknown; the German Monarchists are becoming active again with plans of a Wittelsbach restoration in Bavaria, and in the Balkan States the old jealousies and hatreds are breaking out again.

The hope of the future lies with Britain and the United States. Almost alone among the nations of the world they have preserved their social and economic stability throughout the upheavals of the war and its aftermath. Britain, it is true, has her problems of unemployment; but her body politic is sound in wind and limb, and her influence throughout the globe is stronger than ever it was. America was born anew in the war. Her heterogeneous population was welded together in its fires, and the work of nation-building, which may be said to have been begun by Lincoln, was brought to a triumphant conclusion at the salient of St. Mihiel. The great need of our times is Anglo-Saxon unity; for, if the British Commonwealth and the United States work together, there is nothing that they cannot accomplish. By sheer force of moral influence they can impose peace on the nations of the earth. What Power, or group of Powers, would dare to go to war against the will of that mighty combination? Britain and America control most of the raw materials of the world; the seas are under their joint sway, and their trade penetrates into the uttermost corners of the earth. For the moment American opinion holds aloof from the affairs of Europe; but the time is coming when its attitude of isolation will be changed. Pending that change Britain must continue her work of peace-making alone; and to-day, when heads are bowed in reverent memory of their dead, the British people throughout the Empire will dedicate their lives afresh to that noble task.

Bolivia.

The rapid progress of Spanish South America is one of the most interesting political and commercial phenomena of our times. The history of the twentieth century hereafter may be concerned chiefly with that brood of States which was born in the dissolution of the Spanish Empire a hundred years ago. From the Northern Continent the financiers and engineers of the United States are turning their attention to South America, seeking to penetrate those young lands with Northern influence. The recent visit of the Prince of Wales to Uruguay, the Argentine and Chile indicated Britain's interest in those magnetic countries. Spain, the motherland, is not indifferent to South America's future, and King Alfonso, accompanied by the Marquis de Estella, purposes to pay a State visit to the lands which once acknowledged the Spanish Crown. Exactly a hundred years have passed since Bolivia proclaimed its independence, and the youngest of the South American republics came into being. We have received from the Bolivian Consulate a volume issued in commemoration of a century of freedom, and seeking to interest emigrants and investors in that spacious land between the Brazilian forests and the mountains of Peru. Bolivia is six times as large as Great Britain, yet its population is but half that of London. Its range of altitude, from tropical lowlands to cool tablelands and snowy mountain peaks, gives it a rich variety of natural products. It is richer in minerals than any other South American territory, and is the second tin-producing country in the world. Like Chile, Bolivia has been held back chiefly by want of transport facilities. This defect is being remedied by the rapid construction of new railways. Lines are being laid from La Paz to the Northerly districts and from Sucre to the Southern and Eastern borders. Soon a network of railways will render possible the fullest exploitation of the country's resources. Photographs of Bolivian cities—some of them reached hitherto only by mountainous roads—surprise the observer in the magnificence and grace of their architecture. A street in Sucre displays façades better than anything we can show in rebuilt Dublin; the Alameda in La Paz has the beauty of a noble street in Spain, while the Administration Office in the same city, in rich Corinthian style, would not disgrace Whitehall. Bolivia is a young State and one remote hitherto from the highway of progress; yet these pictures reveal a people that will not be satisfied with less than the best. To such a people the future is assured.

"Broadcasting."

To-day the Minister for Posts and Telegraphs in the Irish Free State will open an exhibition in Dublin organised by the "Wireless" Society of Ireland. Visitors will be shown the finest modern "listening-in" appliances, and will be instructed in the mysteries of etheric transmission and reception. The exhibition is a prelude to the opening of the Free State's first "broadcasting" station, which is expected to be in working order before Christmas. Hitherto, for lack of a local station, dwellers in the Free State have been denied the pleasures and benefits of "listening-in," unless they could afford costly apparatus; but the "crystal set," which will serve to receive the waves sent out by Dublin, is within the reach of humble purses. In England it has been observed that "broadcasting" has effected a profound change in the habits of the people. Instead of sallying forth, night after night, in quest of entertainment, families have taken to "listening-in" within their houses. Home has been discovered anew. It will be interesting to observe how "broadcasting" will affect domestic life in our own land. There is a dearth of good entertainment, even in Dublin, at all seasons of the year. If an opera company or a good play comes to Ireland, the theatres are over-crowded, and only one in three of the play-going public can get admission. In the provincial towns an inferior cinematograph performance is generally the height of public amusement available. A change is coming. In a few weeks it will be possible to hear good music every evening of the week anywhere in the twenty-six counties. No longer will a bored public, for sheer want of diversion, besiege the theatres for admission to poor performances. Better plays will need to be staged, better films to be exhibited, if patrons are to be found. "Broadcasting" in the Free State will be under Government direction. This is an arrangement of questionable merit. Mr. Walsh will need to exercise a strict restraint, avoiding, on the one hand, performances savouring of illiberal propaganda, and, on the other, cheap and trashy entertainments which would tend to debase, instead of to refine, public taste

Compulsory Voting.

The general election which will be held in Australia on next Saturday will be unique in the history of democracy. The issue is so grave—it is nothing less than a choice between order and chaos—that the Government has decided that every citizen must vote. Abstention from the polls will be punished by a fine of two pounds. This decision is a startling departure from the practice of democratic States; but the Australian people are not afraid of innovations, and their Premier, Mr. Stanley Bruce, is determined that the fight against Bolshevism shall be fought to a finish. In Australia, as in our own islands, popular apathy is the greatest ally of the forces of disorder. The people of Ireland and England during recent years have shown a deplorable lack of public spirit at election times. At the recent municipal elections in England large numbers of electors did not trouble to record their votes, with the natural result that Socialist candidates, whose supporters voted their maximum strength, gained notable successes throughout the country. The adoption of the Australian method would bring about a remarkable change; for there are very few voters who would keep away from the polling booths if they knew that a two pound fine was to be their punishment. In Ireland some such inducement to vote is even more necessary than it is across the Channel. In our island very few people seem to take their civic duties seriously. They always are ready to criticise, but rarely to express their criticism through their votes. While that apathy exists the ideals of nationhood never can be realised; for no country can be really free if its citizens refuse to accept the responsibilities of their birthright.

ST. STEPHEN'S GREEN.

HISTORIC GROUND.

It was not without a curious element of fitness—whether the authorities were conscious of it or not—that St. Stephen's Green was assigned as the theatre for this year's Armistice Day celebrations.

It is a far cry to the year 1749; yet we find in the records of that year that on the 25th April St. Stephen's Green was the scene of great rejoicings by the citizens of Dublin in celebration of the peace concluded at Aix-la-Chapelle in the previous year.

* * * * *

In the "Universal Magazine" for January, 1749, we find the following:—"Great preparations are being made for the celebration of the day of thanksgiving for the peace. Grand fireworks will be played off in St. Stephen's Green: in the centre a magnificent dodecagon temple of Peace will be erected and finely illuminated from within; the sides will be adorned with statues embellished with proper ensigns, representing the virtues and blessings which are the supports and ornaments of Peace; in the front of the three sides, towards the West, will be seen Liberty; on her right hand, Justice; and on her left, Fortitude: in the frize over the figure of Liberty will be a medallion, representing Minerva, the goddess of Wisdom, sitting on a rock; in her right hand a spear, and in her left a burning mirror reflecting rays of light and consuming implements of war; over this device, on the cornice, will be placed a grand bust of His Majesty (King George II.), with this inscription, Pater Patriæ—i.e., The Father of his Country," etc., etc.

* * * * *

The equestrian statue of King George II., erected in the Green in 1758, like that of King William in College Green, has a rather chequered history. Repeated attempts were made to mutilate it, not, indeed, for political reasons, but merely for the value of the brass of which the statue was wrought.

Over a century ago an influential section of the citizens urged the removal of this statue to some other site and the erection of the Wellington Monument in its place. In 1816 a lengthy dispute over the matter took place between the Commissioners for the Improvement of St. Stephen's Green and the Committee for the erection of the Wellington Testimonial, but it was ultimately decided that "a king ought not to be removed to accommodate a subject," and so George II. and his horse were not disturbed, and the lofty monument to Wellington was raised in the larger Park by the Liffey.

* * * * *

In the old days, before St. Stephen's Green was railed in, the monument of George II. was the scene of many celebrations, municipal and other. "Here," says an old print, "the several Corporations of the City Guilds used to assemble, well accoutred and mounted, to meet the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs of the city when they perambulated the city and liberties every third year."

A quarter of a century ago—on April 3, 1900—the streets in the neighbourhood of St. Stephen's Green, East, were thronged with vast masses of people assembled to catch a glimpse of Queen Victoria as she drove in state into Dublin after receiving the keys of the city from the Lord Mayor at Leeson street Bridge. ε ERLANA.

A THOUGHT FOR ARMISTICE DAY.

FROM OUR CHURCH OF IRELAND CORRESPONDENT.

In a Dublin church there stands an uninteresting window which on Armistice Day comes into its own. It is set in the west gallery between the two sections of the organ-casing, and cannot in any way be described as beautiful. The design, frankly conventional, consists of intertwining leafy tendrils running within rectangular frames which are set lengthways in each light, and the most prominent position is occupied by the initials and crest of the one in whose honour the memorial was erected. But—and here is the detail on which we would dwell—the designer has interspersed plentifully along the sides of each light triangular pieces of crimson glass in clusters of four, which, from the east end of the building, give the appearance of poppies. On Remembrance Sunday and Armistice Day the eye is caught by these crimson patches, which call to mind memories more sacred and of deeper meaning than had ever been the intention of either artist or donor to evoke.

The crimson poppy is a flower of short life, but of great beauty. When thought of in connection with the fields of Flanders there is something sacramental about it; for has it not sprung to life literally watered with the blood of our best-beloved? As a flower draws its life in part from the soil in which it grows, so the Flanders poppy gives us in tangible form the full-blooded joy of life which found its expression and fruition in the greatness of unselfish service.

It is true to say that the world is poorer for the loss of those who died that we might live; yet we of this generation are all the richer in that we have before us such an example as theirs. It must bring those who possess the power of vision closer to the great tragedy and hope of Calvary.

It appears that this saving act of theirs is in danger of losing its meaning for us already. In the present unsettled condition of things men are so busy looking to their immediate necessities that they run the risk of losing touch with those who in the stress of a great adventure reckoned as naught the lesser successes for which men strive. Can we not grasp the lesson which they would teach us—which every hero from the Divine Christ downwards would teach the world—the necessity of looking outward rather than of cultivating self-centredness? This discipline would have issue in many directions: because of it we would spare what we can for the heroes still with us who survived the great tribulation, as their comrades now in glory gave up all for us. It would lead us to place a severe check on the wrong thinking and prejudiced outlook which led the world to the tragic conflict of those bitter years, and which are still with us spreading their evil leaven; and it would beget within us a serious intention to accept and act upon the standard of values set by One Whose short life in the body was a continuous working out of the truth of His own words: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

IN MEMORY OF ALL WHO DIED, 1914-1918.

When the year grows old and earth asleep is lying,
And her fields are bare of the fruits she had to give,
We keep this day in honour of all who, dying,
Won us the right to live.

Undaunted by scathe of the battle flame and fire,
They offered their joyous youth and their manhood's crown,
Yielded the best in life, each hope, each dear desire,
And life itself laid down.

They reached the eternal heights and gained their guerdon,
But others are left to travel a weary way.
Grant us Thy help lest we fail beneath our burden,
O! Lord, we humbly pray.

Theirs an immortal glory, not our poor semblance—
What need to wreath for them blossoms of white or red?
Twin flowers unfading—love and sweet remembrance—
Will bloom above the dead.

THE SYMBOL OF REMEMBRANCE.

O'er every heart a glowing spot of red—
The symbol of remembrance for the dead.
To some, naught but a scarce-felt passing pain,
This fragile Flanders poppy. Some are fain
To cry aloud to earth and sky and sea,
"My dead was God and all the world to me,"
Yet silent keep. The medals which they wear,
Mute-voiced, reveal the secret wounds they bear.

REMEMBRANCE DAY.

SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ARMISTICE.

DUBLIN'S 250,000 POPPIES.

PRINCE OF WALES BROADCASTS APPEAL FOR EARL HAIG'S FUND.

There could be no more sincere act of remembrance of the dead than an act of service to their comrades in need and the dependents of the fallen. Lord Haig was working tirelessly for the betterment of the unhappy condition of some of those who followed him to victory seven years ago. There were many thousands of ex-service men unemployed; many widows and orphans whose means were slender; tuberculous men who needed special care; and there were the disabled, for whom the finding of employment was still a pressing need.

All those and others were, in varying degrees, the charges of the British Legion, and, if the Legion's work was to go on, the generous financial support of Lord Haig's appeal was an urgent necessity.—The Prince of Wales in a message broadcast last night.

TO-DAY, seven years ago, the guns ceased booming in the Great War, and men and women the world over turned their thoughts to the things that make for their peace. Everywhere in Europe, and, indeed, in all corners of the globe, tribute will be paid to the gallant dead of all countries.

Ancient fends and hatreds are rapidly being forgotten with the realisation of the interdependence of the nations one upon the other. In Ireland, for one day at least, there will be no boundary problem; for the men of the North and the South who stood together so loyally in the one great cause at Messines and at Sulva knew no boundary line.

Arrangements for the celebration of Armistice Day are now complete, and in Dublin yesterday many thousands of people were wearing the Flanders poppy, which has so appropriately become the token of remembrance. From all accounts the sale of poppies, the proceeds of which go to Earl Haig's Fund for the benefit of disabled ex-Service men, is likely to be an even greater success than that of last year, when Dublin, in friendly rivalry, easily beat Belfast. "The little opposition that was threatened," said an official of the British Legion yesterday, "has worked wonders, and the trouble is that we are unlikely to have sufficient poppies to meet the demands of our lady sellers."

All roads will lead to St. Stephen's Green to-day, where, at 11 o'clock, the ceremony of remembrance will be held. After Services in various city churches, ex-Service men will march to the temporary Cenotaph, which will be unveiled at two minutes to eleven. The Last Post will then be sounded by the Legion buglers, after which a solemn two minutes' silence will be observed. The sounding of the Reveille will follow, and then many hundreds of wreaths will be placed at the base of the Memorial Cross. Similar ceremonies will take place in Belfast and at many other centres throughout the country.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE CEREMONY.

PUBLIC CO-OPERATION REQUESTED.

Ex-Servicemen and the public attending the ceremony are requested to adhere to the following programme which has been drawn up with a view to avoiding confusion:—

At 9 a.m. a special Mass will be celebrated in the Pro-Cathedral, Marlborough street. Those who do not attend are requested to assemble at Beresford place at 9.30 a.m. After the Church Service ex-Servicemen will parade in Marlborough street, under General Hammond, and will march via Eden quay to Butt Bridge, where they will be joined by those assembled at Beresford place, and proceed to the temporary Cenotaph via Pearse street, Westland Row, Lower Merrion street, Merrion square North, Merrion square East, Lower Fitzwilliam street, Lower Baggot street, Pembroke street, Fitzwilliam square, Leeson street to Stephen's Green South. On the way they will be joined in Fearse street by the 5th Lancers, the Old Comrades' Association, and a party from Trinity College, and at Westland Row Station by contingents from Kingstown and Blackrock. Ex-Servicemen from Rathmines and Rathfarnham district will march via Portobello Bridge, Charlemont Mall, Charlemont place, and Harcourt street to Earlsfort terrace. Ex-Servicemen from Inchicore, Bluebell, and Palmerstown will march via Kevin street and Cuffe street to Stephen's Green South.

The ceremony will begin with the unveiling of the cross at 10.58 a.m. The Last Post will be sounded, after which a solemn two minutes' silence will be observed. The Reveille will then be sounded.

After the ceremony the public assembled in Stephen's Green East (i.e., between Earlsfort terrace and Shelbourne Hotel) will be requested to turn about and march to the left round St. Stephen's Green. The ex-Servicemen assembled in St. Stephen's Green South will then march past and salute the Cenotaph, followed by those assembled in Leeson street and Earlsfort terrace.

CHRIST CHURCH SERVICES.

A solemn Service will be held in Christ Church Cathedral at 10.45 a.m. After the shortened Litany, the two minutes' silence will be observed, followed by special prayers and the celebration of Holy Communion. Offerings will be invited in response to Earl Haig's appeal for the British Legion (Ireland, Southern Area).

Ex-Service men whose residence or place of business is in the North Wall or South Wall districts, will "fall in" at 9.30 a.m. outside the London, Midland and Scottish Railway Company's Hotel, No. 3, Wall.

RAILWAY WORKERS' TRIBUTE.

The following arrangements have been made for railway workers who are ex-Service men:—

Inchicore—Parade at Inchicore and march to Kingsbridge (arriving 9.50 a.m.) to participate in ceremonial at the War Memorial on Kingsbridge departure platform. The band will parade with this contingent.

Kingsbridge—Parade at Kingsbridge at 9.10 a.m. for the same ceremony.

North Wall, Westland row, Harcourt street, and Amiens street—Representatives from these stations will parade with the Kingsbridge contingent at Kingsbridge at 9.10 a.m.

Broadstone—Parade at Broadstone for the ceremony at the War Memorial, Broadstone, and then march to Kingsbridge.

A marker will be placed for each contingent on the approach road to Kingsbridge Goods Station. Contingents will be marched on the markers at 9.35 a.m., where one combined parade will be formed under the command of Major Cusack. At 9.45 a.m. the parade will march to the Cenotaph, St. Stephen's Green (route to be arranged by Legion Executive).

HUNDREDS OF WREATHS TO BE LAID.

THE NORTH'S TRIBUTE.

"We are absolutely swamped out," said one of the officials in charge of the distribution of Flanders poppies to an Irish Times reporter at the British Legion offices, D'Olier street, Dublin, last night. "The demand to-day," he added, "has been much better than it was twelve months ago."

"Roughly, a quarter of a million poppies were secured for Dublin city and county, and, judging from the keen demand, it is doubtful if the supply will be adequate. For the City of Dublin 120,000 poppies were received. Rathmines district has got 50,000, Kingstown 20,000, and Finglas, Killester, Inchicore and other outlying districts have got 50,000. In Dublin there are over 500 collectors; in Rathmines 200, Killester 80, Finglas 40, Inchicore 40, Kingstown 220, and Bray, which is just outside the border, has 80 collectors."

Bray is sending a strong contingent to Dublin of the British Legion of ex-Servicemen. They will arrive this morning by special train and will line up at Westland row and join the main party.

At the offices, D'Olier street, more offers of motor cars have been received than are required.

MANY WREATHS.

An outstanding feature of this year's arrangements has been the sale of wreaths. Over 100 had been sold up to last night. These wreaths were made by disabled ex-Servicemen in the British Legion poppy factory in London, and it is remarkable that the more expensive wreaths are in keenest demand. Several orders have been received for wreaths costing £15 and £10 each. Many wreaths have already been laid at the Cenotaph, St. Stephen's Green, and one will be placed there this morning from Major-General Sir Oliver Nugent, who commanded the 36th Ulster Division in France. Hundreds of other wreaths will be laid on the cross.

The temporary Cenotaph is a Celtic Cross of Irish granite similar to the one which stood at College Green last Armistice Day. It is intended to erect it at an early date at Guinchy, on the Somme, where so many Irish soldiers laid down their lives in the Great War.

CORK WAR MEMORIAL.

A memorial tablet to the members of the Incorporated Church of Ireland Cork Young Men's Association who died in the War will be unveiled in the Gregg Hall and Memorial Room, Cork, this evening at 8. The unveiling ceremony will be performed by Colonel J. W. Stackpoole, and the Bishop of Cork, Cloyne and Ross will preside.

After more than forty years of strenuous controversy in many fields I see no sign of any decline in what Burke once called "the inbred integrity" of the British people.—Lord Oxford.

IN LONDON.

TRAFFIC TO STOP FOR 2 MINUTES.

ROYAL FAMILY AT THE CENOTAPH.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Tuesday.

In the British Isles and the whole of the Dominions Armistice Day will be commemorated with due solemnity.

In London at 11 o'clock a gun will be fired in St. James's Park, and maroons will be discharged in the suburbs as signals to the people of London for the beginning of the two minutes' silence, in memory of the men who made the great sacrifice in 1914-18.

The celebration at the Cenotaph will be the same as in previous years, for it has been found that the ceremony interprets the national feeling on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day in the eleventh month. Men of the Army, Navy and Air Force will march to Whitehall and form a hollow square round the Cenotaph.

At the Parliament street end of the Square will be bands of the Guards, the Marines and the Air Force. While they are playing the choirs of the Chapel Royal and St. Margaret's, Westminster, will take up their position in the Square by the side of the Cenotaph, furthest from the Home Office.

WREATHS AT THE CENOTAPH.

Just before the two minutes' silence the King and Prince of Wales and the Duke of York will personally place wreaths at the base of the Cenotaph. There will be others, too, from Queen Alexandra, from the British Government, from the Dominions and from the three Services.

The Queen and other ladies of the Royal Family will be inside the Home Office joining in the ceremony from exactly opposite the Cenotaph. Near the King and the Princes will be Cabinet Ministers and representatives of the Services. On the first stroke of eleven o'clock from Big Ben the two minutes' silence will begin. Traffic everywhere will come to a stop. Motor engines will cease running, and an almost perfect stillness will come over London.

ENGINES TO STOP.

The instructions issued by the L.G.O.C. to its staff may be taken as a model.

"Please note that for the brief space of two minutes there should be a complete suspension of all normal activities. Omnibuses—engines also—motors and engines of any kind in use must be stopped from 11 a.m. to 11.2 a.m. precisely. Drivers shall pull into the near side, or otherwise see that their omnibuses will occupy a position which will least hinder the general traffic when the engines are re-started and ordinary working resumed. It is required that the staff in general shall stand at attention, and an absolute quietness be maintained during the solemn halt. It is suggested that all ex-Service men should wear their medals and decorations on this day."

The end of the silence in Whitehall will be signified by the firing of a second gun in St. James's Park, and by the sounding of the "Last Post" by the bugles of the R.A.F. Then the assembled thousands will sing "O God, our help in ages past." After that a Service, lasting a few minutes, will be conducted by the Bishop of London. The crowds will slowly disperse, and the great pilgrimage past the Cenotaph and through the Abbey to the Unknown Warrior's grave will begin.

IN THE PROVINCES.

In the large provincial centres there will be Services at the local war memorials, in which the municipal councils and detachments of ex-Servicemen will take part.

PENNY POSTAGE.

BRITISH P.M.G.'S PROMISE.

It is the hope of the British Government to restore the penny post. This assurance was given at the annual meeting at London Mansion House yesterday of Rowland Hill Memorial and Benevolent Fund by the Postmaster-General. He said that it was the opinion of many that the ship of industry might get on faster if it carried penny postage.

Unhappily, the cost of that reform would be something in excess of five millions, and already the ship was overloaded. He could not say more than that it was the hope of the Government to achieve the reform within its lifetime.

The official figures are given on another page.

LEVERHULME ART SALE.

The sale of the Leverhulme collection of tapestries, needlework, pictures and old English glass, at the Bungalow, Rivington, Bolton, yesterday, realised over £10,000. A large Flemish tapestry, 33ft. 6ins. by 9ft., sold for £2,400. Two Brussels panels fetched £700. These three were purchased by Mr. John Magee, of Bolton, who last week bought the Bungalow. He also paid £1,100 for a large Elizabethan needlework picture.

HEAD-ON TRAMCAR COLLISION IN A FOG.

In a dense fog yesterday two Manchester Corporation tramcars collided head-on on the single line between two loops at Sale. Seven passengers and a trolley boy sustained hurts. Three, including two women, were conveyed to Altringham General Hospital and detained.

WILD SCENES IN WALL STREET.

BIG COLLAPSE.

A DROP OF 30 POINTS: SPECULATORS HIT.

FORCED SELLING.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

With a record turn-over of more than three and a half million shares, the Stock Market to-day witnessed scenes of unprecedented frenzy. Bear trades, after numerous vain attempts to stem the rising tide of the past few months, to-day finally staged a sensational collapse of the market, pitilessly hammering down stock after stock as the speculating public vainly tried to cover part of their losses.

Chrysler Motors, for instance, which had been rising in a most startling fashion during recent weeks, to-day lost nearly 30 points, while the United States Steel, which only last Friday rose more than 5 points in one day, to-day lost 6 with equal rapidity.

Numberless small speculators were forcibly sold out, owing to their lack of margin. This forced selling naturally increased the pace of the market decline.

While the action of the Boston Reserve Bank yesterday, in raising its discount rate, undoubtedly inspired fears that the New York Federal Reserve Bank might take a similar action, there was no really definite reason to which to-day's collapse can be attributed.

What really happened was that the market had been over-bought by the speculative public, and a cleaning-out process had to come sooner or later. Whether or not, the bull market is definitely at an end for the present, it is too early yet to say. At the close of the markets to-day there were a few scattered signs of support. The United States Steel, for example, recovered 2 points in the last few minutes of trading.

IRISH AND CANADIAN IMPORT REGULATIONS.

ENGLISH STOCK BREEDERS' GRIEVANCE.

At a meeting of the National Pig-Breeders' Association in London yesterday a letter was read from the Shropshire Sheep-Breeders' Association asking for support for a resolution for submission to the Ministry of Agriculture on the question of the importation of live-stock.

The Shropshire Association wished to call attention to the great injustice to breeders of pedigree stock in Great Britain by the import regulations set up by the United States of America and Canada and Ireland, which act as an absolute embargo on the shipping of live-stock to those countries. In the case of Canada and Ireland, both countries ship large numbers of store animals to England on very easy conditions, and there should be some reasonable reciprocity. It was further contended in the resolution that the breeding of pedigree stock in Great Britain could not be made a remunerative business unless breeders had an outlet for some of their best stock, and it was hoped that the matter would receive prompt attention from the Ministry.

The meeting decided to support the resolution.

PRIESTS DEFY NEW MEXICAN LAW.

FIVE CLERGYMEN ARRESTED.

MEXICO CITY (by Mail.)

According to despatches from Tabasco, considerable religious excitement prevails in Villahermosa, the capital of the State of Tabasco, over the arrest of five Catholic priests who have refused to get married.

A decree recently passed in that State requires that priests of any creed must marry in order to exercise the duties of their office.—(Reuter.)

RESCUED IN MID-ATLANTIC.

DANISH SAILORS' THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

The Ellerman Wilson liner, Idaho, landed at Hull yesterday five Danish seamen, members of the crew of the three-masted schooner, Eva, who were rescued in mid-Atlantic on Sunday, November 1st. The Eva was on a voyage from Newfoundland to Spain with salted fish, when she encountered a terrific gale, and was rendered unmanageable. The crew were in the rigging for thirty-six hours without food. The Idaho sighted the schooner and launched a lifeboat, manned by the chief officer and four men, who succeeded, after a severe buffeting, in taking off the crew and the ship's dog. The Eva foundered shortly afterwards.

SUGAR BEET GROWING.

NORTHERN IRELAND MAKING INQUIRIES.

A deputation from the Northern Ireland Development Commission, including the Chairman, Viscount Charlemont, is at present on a visit to England with a view to completing its investigation of the sugar beet growing possibilities in Northern Ireland.

The deputation has conferred in London with the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries, the Trades Facilities Advisory Committee, the Customs authorities, and the British Sugar Beet Society, and by the courtesy of the last-mentioned, is visiting some of the beet sugar factories in England later during the present week.

WORK ON THE SHANNON SCHEME.

LIMERICK TIRED OF THE DISPUTE.

Two hundred men continue at work at the Shannon scheme works at Ardnacrusha without any interference from labour in Limerick. At the Limerick Docks the ground is being prepared by members of the National Ex-Service Men's Association for the erection of a large electric crane, and side by side the steamer Erling Lindoe is being discharged by German skilled workers.

At the same time, the contractors of the Shannon scheme are able to procure all the materials and supplies that they require. Although they have been held up by members of the Transport Union, the contractors load and cart their own supplies from Limerick merchants' premises, and in that way they are quite independent of the transport workers. Pickets, bearing placards containing references to public men were to be seen in the streets yesterday, and last evening a leaflet was distributed denouncing the Government as oppressors and calling upon the Labour members of the Dail and members of municipal and county councils to refuse to function until State employment or maintenance was made the first law of the land.

So far as the bulk of the citizens are concerned, interest in the dispute is now a negligible quantity.

Literature has lasting power not through what it has to say, but through the way in which it says it.—Mr. Hilaire Belloc.

M. PAINLEVÉ TO FIGHT.

WILL FALL ON FINANCE PROGRAMME.

NO AGREEMENT.

The political tangle, in the midst of which the French Government is striving to solve the financial problem, is more and more confused. Although pressure was brought to bear several times on M. Painlevé by the Left sections of the Chamber, at private interviews, the Prime Minister refuses to bring forward a new scheme.

The Finance Committee of the Chamber yesterday rejected, by twelve votes to seven—with some abstentions—the Government's proposal to tax rentes, and adjourned until this afternoon.

"We shall go before the Finance Committee to-morrow, and we shall do needful to put the matter discussed at a public sitting of the Chamber on Thursday or Friday," said M. Painlevé last night.

NO HOPE OF AGREEMENT.

The Socialists declare that they see no hope of agreement with the other Left group, and they have advised the Finance Committee to lose no more time in discussing the text of the Government's proposals, but to submit a report, as soon as possible, to the Chamber, where the whole question would be thrashed out in a full-dress debate.

M. Malvy, who is President of the Finance Committee of the Chamber, saw M. Painlevé twice last evening, and suggested that he should put forward a new financial scheme. He met with a formal refusal.

"I WILL NOT FLEE."

"The Premier even exclaimed," so, says M. Malvy, "I will not flee. I shall fall, if need be, on the field of battle."

The Cabinet met last evening, but the members of the Government refused to make any statement for publication regarding the discussion of the financial scheme. It seems as if the Government had decided to submit its scheme to the Chamber as soon as possible.

An extremely well-informed person states that the Government has taken up its stand and will bring in its financial scheme, though the Prime Minister, in a most conciliatory spirit, intimated that he would not refuse to examine any suggestions that might be made to him with a view to reaching an agreement with the Finance Committee.

Up to now the Finance Committee has not taken up a very definite position, and the Government would like to see it assume its responsibilities, as the Government itself has done.

"ENGLISH TRICKERY."

GERMAN NATIONALISTS ON "LOCARNO'S CUP."

BERLIN, Tuesday.

Mr. Chamberlain's speech at the Guildhall banquet and his very cordial references to Germany and her Ambassador find no echo in the Berlin Nationalist papers, which complain that the "spirit of Locarno" has hitherto merely been talked about, and that it is time for deeds.

The Deutsche Zeitung, after remarking that one of the chief characteristics of Englishmen is to hide "devilish plans behind a friendly face," says that the incident of the loving cup, out of which Herr Stresemann and Mr. Chamberlain both drank, was the great hit of the evening, and will create a storm of enthusiasm in certain circles in Germany.

The paper adds:—"But we will not let our heads be turned by such a gesture. We are ready to do what Chamberlain wants us to do if the other side means it honestly. Nationalist Germany has several times tried to come to an understanding with England, but has always been betrayed by England. We have often followed England's advice and found we had been tricked. This experience makes England's recommendation of the Locarno agreement extremely suspicious, and we, therefore, must examine it very thoroughly and carefully."—(Reuter.)

NORTHERN SENATE.

UNIONIST CANDIDATE ELECTED.

The count of votes for the election of a member of the Northern Ireland Senate took place in the Parliament House, Belfast, yesterday. The Right Hon. Hugh O'Neill, Speaker of the House of Commons, acted as returning officer. Thirty-six valid votes were cast, and the poll resulted as follows:—

Mr. William Barclay (U.)	30
Mr. Davoto (Nat.)	3
Mr. R. M'Clung (Labour)	3

The Speaker declared Mr. Barclay elected.

ELEPHANT RUNS AMOK.

TWO MEN INJURED IN WILD CHARGE.

A young bull elephant ran amok yesterday at the Barnet dépôt of Mr. George G. Bruce Chapman, F.Z.S., the live-stock dealer.

The animal, with two large elephants, had just been installed in its stable upon arrival from the docks, when it became infuriated, and, picking up an Indian mahout with its trunk, threw him on the floor, afterwards ripping open his leg with a tusk. Three other mahouts ran to the rescue of their comrade, but the elephant charged them, and succeeded in pinning one against the wall, where it prodded him in the ribs, but, fortunately, without causing any serious injury.

A keeper, who endeavoured to secure the enraged animal, was knocked down, and, by rolling over just as the elephant was falling on its knees to crush him—in the manner characteristic of its kind—had a very narrow escape from death. Leaping to his feet, the man vaulted over a partition, and subsequently joined the mahouts in pacifying and restraining the savage animal.

ENGLISH RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

NO DAMAGE TO PASSENGERS OR STOCK.

The London, Midland and Scottish Railway issued the following statement regarding a mishap near Sheffield yesterday:—

Three coaches were derailed at Winoobank, near Sheffield, to-day, as the result of a slight mishap to the 10.8 a.m. local train from Masborough, near Sheffield. No damage was done either to passengers or stock, and traffic was delayed for only a short time.

LATE NEWS.

THE GUILDHALL SPEECHES.

Two of the later Guildhall speeches seem likely to have a more direct bearing on current controversies than those unimpeachable surveys of the larger situation which were contributed according to custom by the Prime Minister and the Foreign Secretary, remarks The Times editorially. In the first place, Lord Beatty took the opportunity to reply to recent critics of the Admiralty, and incidentally laid down with great strength and simplicity the whole duties and the accepted limitations of the technical advisers to the Government of the day. It would be difficult, indeed, to frame a better statement than his of the true relationship between expert opinion and the Cabinet responsibility. If and when the present First Sea Lord lays down his office—an event which cannot be remote—it will remain on record to refute the theory that the "Admirals" are a close corporation of unreasoning reactionaries achieving their extravagant ends only by blunt threats of resignation, and incapable of realising their proper subordination to Imperial policy. The full activities of Rosyth and Pembroke so far as the upkeep of the Fleet is concerned, are pronounced to be "entirely redundant." No strategical argument put forward by amateurs will stand for a moment against this definite pronouncement by the only authority which is entitled, and even bound, to make it.

The other statement, which marks a point in current controversy, is the Attorney-General's definite assurance that, in dropping a charge of "larceny" against three or four mischievous young Fascists, the Public Prosecutor was acting solely on his legal opinion of the inherent weakness of his case. Sir Archibald Bodkin's opinion may or may not have been well-founded. Sir Douglas Hogg's considered view that "every competent lawyer" would agree with him must carry great weight. But, on every public ground, it is certainly to be deplored—and by no one more than by members of the Government, who have most reason of all to welcome any public affirmation of the principles of law and order on however trivial an occasion. Clearly, there is no slick here with which to beat Mr. Baldwin's Administration, or, for the matter of that, to push the Public Prosecutor out of office. The one lesson of a grotesque agitation is that the young fools in this country who masquerade in the guise of Italian patriots may do more harm than they are probably capable of understanding.

SOVIET'S INCREASING HOLD IN CHINA.

WIDESPREAD HOSTILITIES.

The Times Shanghai Correspondent says that the civil war which was expected to have degenerated into manœuvres for positions has blazed into open hostilities. A battle fought for several days with considerable casualties has ended in the defeat of the Fengtien troops. Shansi and Honan are reported to be combining to invade Shansi, the "model province," and in the south, Chen Chiung-Ming's attempt to overthrow the "Red" Government of Canton has been an ignominous failure. The peculiar seriousness of the situation is the increasing hold which the Soviet is acquiring in all parts of the country.

Mongolia is now purely a Russian province. Kwangtung, where Borodin reins as dictator, is rapidly approaching the same condition, and the Bolshevists are also gradually getting the whole Chinese eastern railway into their hands.

The Peking Correspondent of The Times writes:—The retirement of the Fengtien troops appears to have been caused by the unexpected appearance of a body of Hupeh troops, under a Wu Pie-fu General, who attacked their rear and cut off an important force. Other troops, formerly under Chili commanders, but since incorporated in the Shantung Army, mutinied and went over to the other side. The Shantung commander—a Chang Tso-Lin adherent—is reported to have lost half his army, and to be retiring on his own capital. Loss of material is denied, and it is asserted that Chang Tso-Lin is strengthened by a retirement nearer to his base. It is believed that the Shantung commander, instead of waiting on the defensive at Hsuchowfu, as ordered, took the offensive a hundred miles south of the main position, and was outmanœuvred by his opponents.

A regiment of Chang Tso-Lin's cavalry has appeared at Sanhohsien, 25 miles east of Peking, apparently having advanced through the mountains from Jehol. Apprehension of an outbreak of hostilities in the neighbourhood of the capital is increasing, but so far, Feng Yu-Siang has not declared himself, nor is the attitude of the Honan forces clear, though a new and unexpected alignment of forces is possible.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON.

Despite tax cuts by the Federal Government, the American taxpayers as a whole will not pay a halfpenny less in taxes next year. As Federal taxes decrease, the State, city, county and village taxation increases, and official records show that these lesser Governments are increasing their revenue by higher taxes at a greater rate than the national Government is reducing.

Figures issued by the Census Bureau show that the State Governments have increased their expenditures by 10 per cent. within two years. While the taxpayers of the country are looking to Congress to relieve them a good share of the tax burden, the cost of Government in the States as a whole is increasing from $325,000,000 to $375,000,000 this year.

50,000 FAMILIES FOR CANADA.

NO CONFIRMATION OF BIG IMMIGRATION SCHEME.

OTTAWA, Tuesday.

The Department of Immigration is unable to confirm the report regarding the proposed new colonisation scheme, providing for the emigration to Canada and the settlement there, of 50,000 families from Great Britain in the next five years. The Immigration Department also has no knowledge of the report that the Imperial Government proposes to expend three millions a year on emigration. The Department, however, states that it is working in close co-operation with the Overseas Settlement Board.—(Reuter.)

CANADIAN POTATO EXPORTS.

UNITED STATES EMBARGO.

MONTREAL, Tuesday.

The unusually large movement of Canadian potatoes to the United States owing to rising markets has been suddenly stopped by an embargo which has been placed on the importation of Canadian potatoes through the action of the United States railway companies.

The reason given for the embargo is the flooding of the market by abnormal shipments.—(Reuter.)

THE DAIL AND ITS WORK.

MARKET FOR IRISH WHEAT.

THE EDUCATION ESTIMATES.

LABOUR AND SHANNON DISPUTE.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

THE Dail, which was adjourned unexpectedly on Tuesday of last week, will resume its sittings to-day; and to-morrow the Senate will re-assemble after its long vacation.

A good deal of business awaits the Dail, and more than one lively discussion is expected in the next few week. The general belief is that the House will get straight to business, and Labour is resolved that members shall not lack topics of debate. Mr. McGilligan, who returned to Dublin last Saturday, will be asked to-day to set aside some days for the discussion of the Shannon wages dispute and the problem of unemployment.

The Farmers, on their part, are anxious that time shall be allocated, as soon as possible, for a "full dress" debate on the policy of the Ministry of Agriculture, with particular reference to Mr. J. J. Walsh's "more tillage" campaign. It has been stated already that Mr. Walsh is the head of a Committee—representative of both Houses of the Oireachtas, which was formed for the purpose of formulating a scheme for the extension of tillage, whether by compulsion, tariffs, subsidies or such other means as it might determine. The members of the committee, from the chairman downwards, are acting in their purely personal or private capacities, and the Government are under no obligation to accept, or even to consider their recommendations. After several conferences with Mr. Hogan and others, however, the Committee have drafted their scheme, and some days ago it was submitted formally to the Minister for his examination and his verdict.

One important proposal adopted by the Committee, and, as I am informed, very favourably received by Mr. Hogan, may be given here. The Committee has proposed to the Free State Flour Millers' Association that members of the Association should use a certain percentage of home-grown wheat in the manufacture of their flour, and should guarantee the farmers a certain price for it. The millers, as a result, have agreed to use up to ten per cent. of home-grown wheat in the manufacture of their flour, and have announced that the wheat will be paid for at the prices current in Mark lane, London, at the time of sale.

The agreement between the Tillage Committee and the Millers' Association on this proposal would seem to promise the Free State farmer a guaranteed market, with the best obtainable prices for his wheat in the future, and the least result should be an extension of the area now under wheat, since the farmer will have every inducement to grow the crop. Mr. Hogan, it is understood, has spoken favourably of the Committee's step. How long he will take to examine all the Committee's proposals remains to be seen; but something may be heard of them in the Dail in the immediate future, especially as farmers generally throughout the country have viewed the activities of Mr. Walsh's Committee with marked suspicion and disfavour. It is possible that Mr. Hogan will be asked this afternoon to name a day for the discussion of his Ministry's policy, and for a statement of the Ministry's views on compulsory tillage, a grain subsidy and the like.

EDUCATION.

The principal new business in to-day's programme will be the estimates for the Department of Education. The consideration of these estimates has had to be deferred from time to time because of Mr. MacNeill's absence. Last Tuesday week the President gave an assurance that the Minister would be in his place in the Dail to-day. It may, therefore, be assumed that most of this afternoon's sitting will be devoted to the overdue debate on education policy. Of the subject of compulsory Irish much is likely to be heard, and the possibility of an appeal by referendum to the people is widely canvassed. Indeed, it is suggested that the members of the Cabinet are not of one mind in regard to making obligatory Irish the keystone of Mr. MacNeill's arch of "intensive nationalism."

When the Senate meets to-morrow many of its members will be reminded that, as a result of the recent election, in another four or five weeks' time they will be no longer senators. The results of the election have been communicated by the chief returning officer to the clerks of both Houses of the Oireachtas, and it is not improbable that they will be announced to the members of the Senate by the Chairman (Lord Glenavy) at to-morrow's meeting.

A NEW ELEMENT.

DISCOVERY AT PRAGUE.

PRAGUE (By Mail).

A new element, of atomic weight 75, has been discovered by Dr. J. Heyrowsky, Professor of Chemistry, and Dr. V. Dolejsek, Lecturer at the Czech University of Prague, and a paper on the discovery has been submitted to the Czech Academy of Science. The new element, which fills a gap in the periodic series, was identified in a manganese salt, and was isolated by a method devised at the University of Prague. Two names are proposed for the element—either Dvi-Manganese or Bohemium, after the country which discovered it.—(Reuter.)

U.S. IMMIGRATION PLAN.

NO COMPLAINTS FROM BRITAIN OR IRELAND.

WASHINGTON (By Mail).

The State Department is described as highly pleased with the result of the experiment that it has carried on for the last two months in examining applicants for admission to the United States as immigrants prior to the granting of visas. Though the experiment has only been tried in Great Britain and Ireland, it has been found so satisfactory that it may be extended to other countries.

The report received by the State Department regarding the working of the new system indicates that during the first two months several hundred persons who under the old system would have been turned back on arrival in this country were prevented from sailing. During August and September 12,858 prospective emigrants were examined by Consular officers, and 11,385 were granted visas. Eight hundred and fifty-two applications were denied, 268 having been found inadmissible to the United States on account of contract labour law, illiteracy or liability to become a public charge, and 584 having been found inadmissible on medical examination.

Nine hundred and forty applicants were deferred for further information regarding their qualifications or ability to earn a living in America, for medical treatment, for a curable disease, or for hospital examination of a suspected physical defect.

A gratifying feature of the plan, says the Department's announcement, is that it has apparently been carried out without friction or adverse comment from the British or Irish public or Press.—(Reuter.)

EAST CORK BARLEY.

POSITION IN ENGLISH MARKETS.

At the monthly meeting of the East Cork Farmers' Association in Midleton, Co. Cork, yesterday, Mr. E. J. Cussen, County Secretary, read an important letter from Mr. A. E. Johnston, produce merchant, College House, London, on the position of East Cork barley on the English market. Among other things, the letter stated that the eight samples which Mr. Johnston had received from East Cork were shown to buyers from virtually every centre in England, and, "in view of the present state of the market, it looked quite an impossible proposition unless the farmer would accept a very low price, indeed." From the samples he had seen of similar barleys, it looked as if, in the present markets, barley of the East Cork type would have to come into London at under 40s. ex-ship to be of the slightest use. The letter added:—

"I have seen quite a lot of barley, thoroughly useful grain, sold at 37s. per 448 lbs., and dealers are bidding 16s. per sack. Last season maltsters rushed in and bought almost everything that was offered, and afterwards rejected everything they possibly could. The feeding trade was completely spoiled by the distress parcels that were everywhere on offer. This season just the opposite is happening. Maltsters do not intend to make mistakes this time, and are ultra-particular about their purchases. Consequently," the letter concluded, "about seven-eighths of the samples which come out are being put on the market for poultry or grinding."

BETTING LEADS TO CHILD NEGLECT.

BELFAST WIFE'S PITIFUL STORY.

In the Belfast Summons Court yesterday, Edward Andrews, Argyle street, Shankhill road, was prosecuted by Inspector T. Williams, N.S.P.C.C., for neglecting his three children. Defendant undertook to pay his wife 26s. per week of his bureau money and £3 15s. out of his pension, and was ordered to find bail for his future good behaviour.

Defendant's wife said that the three children were aged 5 years and 8 months, 3 years and 8 months, and 1 year and 5 months. Her husband was unemployed and received 29s. per week from the bureau. He also drew £4 12s. a quarter as a pension. One week in October when he got his money he put it all on a horse, and on the following day she had to pawn the boots off the children's feet to get them food. Nearly everything he got he put on a horse. She had £1 deposited for clothing and he drew it and put it on a horse. On Friday, the 6th inst., he came home at seven o'clock drunk after drawing the bureau money, and all he gave her was 2s. 6d. and paid a "wee shop" 4s. 6d. On the following day she had to pawn the children's clothes and a kettle to get them food. For the last two years he went off with the money and left the children hungry.

ESCAPE FROM PADDED CELL.

LUNATIC CHASED BY CROWD.

Clad only in a waistcoat, a lunatic, brandishing a shovel, and with his body bespattered with blood, dashed through the streets of Rotherham yesterday. He was a burly Irishman, who escaped from the padded cell of Rotherham Workhouse, where he had been lodged on Monday night, before being taken to the asylum at Sheffield. He was guarded by ten attendants, but early in the morning he broke loose, and made his way into the streets through a glass window. After attacking a milk deliverer, he rushed through the main streets of the town, pursued by a crowd of over a hundred. After a chase of a mile he mounted a railway embankment, and defied the crowd, but the police captured him.

SHALE OILFIELDS CRISIS.

An Edinburgh message states that the crisis in the Shale Oilfields in West Lothian is more acute, and a strike, affecting 10,000 workers, is imminent. The 10 per cent. reduction comes into operation to-day, when work will cease unless a last-minute settlement can be reached.

Certain safety men, it is understood, will report for duty to-day for the purpose of closing down the plant.

Not only will the Shale workers be involved, but it is computed that about 2,500 coal miners will be affected should the strike be protracted.

LIMERICK GAS WORKS.

It is understood that arrangements have been completed to raise a loan to put the Limerick Gas Works in repair, and to instal new plant. The Mayor and other members of a deputation have left for Dublin to interview the Ministry of Industry and Commerce on the subject.

PORTUGUESE "SPORT."

A 26-DAYS' HORSE RACE.

SEVERAL ANIMALS DIE ON THE WAY.

LISBON.—(By Mail).

A "Round Portugal" horse race, the course for which covered 2,000 kilometres (1,240 miles), has just ended here with the arrival of three of the competitors, after a ride of twenty-six days. Several horses died en route, and several more were lamed. Others had to have injections to keep them going.

The first to enter Lisbon was Captain Rogerio Tavares, of the Portuguese Army, and his horse had to be taken straight to hospital, where it died a few hours later. The second to come in, after an interval of only half an hour, was Jose Tanganho. The third was Lieutenant Brandao de Brito some hours later.

As a final test the riders had to jump the hurdles on the Lisbon steeplechase course, and as Captain Tavares's horse died before he had done this, the second (Tanganho) was proclaimed the winner. He received a silver cup, a medal and 20 contos. The second and third also received medals and money prizes.

Tanganho was carried in triumph through the streets by the crowd. Two of the competitors did 160 kilometres (100 miles) in one day during the race, and others did as much as 100 kilometres in a single day.

"BARBAROUS REFORMANCE."

Many of the better class Portuguese concur with the English point of view in regarding the affair as a barbarous performance, but the people turned out in their thousands to welcome these riders, and nothing else was talked of for days beforehand.

GRECO-BULGARIAN INCIDENT.

LEAGUE COMMISSION IN BELGRADE.

BELGRADE, Tuesday.

The Commission appointed by the League of Nations to inquire into the Greco-Bulgarian frontier incident arrived here last night. It includes Sir Horace Rumbold, British Ambassador in Madrid; M. Fortuyn, Member of the Dutch Chamber; M. de Adlercreutz, Swedish Minister at The Hague; General Serrigny, France; General Ferrario, Italy; Major Abraham, General Secretary of the Commission; and several experts of the League.

The members of the Commission were met at the station by M. Markovitch, Deputy Minister for Foreign Affairs, and General Kalafatovitch, on behalf of the Government; General Bodrero, the Italian Minister; M. Vakarelski, Bulgarian Minister; the First Secretary of the British Legation; the British, French, and Italian Military Attachés; and a large number of journalists.

The Commission proceeded to their hotel, where, at 8 o'clock, the first meeting was held. This was attended also by the British, French, and Italian Military Attachés, who, it will be recalled, were entrusted with the first inquiry into the frontier incident. The meeting dealt with the programme to be followed by the Commission.

At to-day's meeting the Military Attachés will make a detailed report on the cause of the conflict and the results of their investigations on the spot.

To-morrow M. Ninchitch, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, is to give a luncheon in honour of the members of the Commission, who will leave the same day for the scene of the incident.—(Reuter.)

BRITISH JOURNALISTS' GIFT TO AMERICA.

A STONE FROM ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

COLUMBIA, MISSOURI, Tuesday.

In the presence of the British Ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, who made a special journey from Washington, a stone from St. Paul's Cathedral, donated by British journalists through the courtesy of Lord Burnham, was placed to-day in the Campus of the School of Journalists, University of Missouri. Upon the stone is set a brass plate, prepared by the United State Survey Office, showing the distances and directions of the principal cities of the world.

Numerous messages of congratulation were received, including one from Mr. Kellogg, Secretary of State, who emphasised the good work done by the public Press in promoting a better understanding between the nations; from Dean Inge, Mr. Ramsay Macdonald and others.

In her course of his address, Sir Esme Howard explained that the stone had been chosen from St. Paul's because that edifice, more than any other, was the rallying point around which British literature and writing had centred for centuries past.

Proceeding, he confessed that, as a diplomat, while full of admiration for journalists and their work, he always had an inward quaking whenever he met "the votaries of publicity." The young journalists whom he was addressing were taking a heavy and serious responsibility on their shoulders in choosing a career in which they would have to influence and mould public opinion.

Discussing the papers of the different countries, His Excellency claimed that he had never found anyone perfect. Emphasising that what he called serenity of point of view was especially lacking, he caused much amusement by references to those twin brethern, "Pep" and "Punch," and the twin sisters, "Gush" and "Slop," both of which, he admitted, were needed in the right place and the right quantities in order to make the paper interesting. But both were very often over-indulged in, with the result that they defeated their own purpose.

Sympathetic references were made to the public-spiritedness and generosity of Dean Inge, Lord Burnham, and the British journalists who made the gift possible.—(Reuter.)

WARFARE EXTRA-ORDINARY.

CORK NOW PAYING FOR LADIES' HATS.

At Cork Circuit Court, John Pirell and Co., Fermoy, claimed £14 17s. for goods delivered on 27th September, 1922.

Margaret Dunlea said that the parcel destroyed contained four ladies' hats, purchased at Messrs. Titsimons, Cork, for £13.

When asked by Mr. Casey did she think that the Irregulars were going to use ladies' hats witness replied that she did not know.

Mr. Casey suggested to Judge Kenny that the troop of cavalry he heard about the previous day might have used them.

The Judge occasioned laughter by remarking that they might use the feathers if they had a General amongst them.

Mr. A. Carroll (for applicant) submitted that the hats might have been used for the purpose of disguise, and were such as might be taken and used by armed men acting on behalf of any combination to overthrow the Government.

The Judge—By means of ladies' hats!

The Judge said that he had no doubt they were taken by these men, and were handed over to their woman friends.

Mr. Casey—Cheap presents.

The Judge—Rather dear presents, because the public has to pay for them. I daresay some of them never had such hats before. I will allow this claim.

The judge accordingly reported for £13, with costs and expenses.

DUBLIN SKETCHING CLUB.

Many guests attended an "At Home" at Mills' Hall, Merrion Row, yesterday afternoon, on the invitation of the President and Committee of the Dublin Sketching Club. The 51st exhibition of paintings and drawings by members of the Club is still open, and this the guests were privileged to view.

The Japanese Ambassador in Brussels yesterday presented to King Albert some objets d'art, presented by the Emperor and Empress of Japan and the Prince Regent and his consort to their silver wedding.

GRAVE SITUATION IN SYRIA.

REBEL DESIGNS ON DAMASCUS.

PARIS, Tuesday.

The Temps Correspondent at Beirut telegraphs that the situation there remains extremely serious. The rebels are endeavouring to surround Damascus and provoke a general uprising against the French.

Rebel raids into the Anti-Lebanon are increasing in frequency, their object being to cut the communications between Damascus and the coast. Rebel bands are also attempting the systematic destruction of the irrigation works of Damascus in the hope that the working population may be ruined and driven to desperation.

The Correspondent says that, in his opinion, the French must win a decisive victory before the cold sets in, otherwise they will have difficulty in remaining in Damascus and preventing a rebellion in Northern Syria. He expresses doubt whether the French have sufficient troops for such a coup, adding that much depends upon how soon the eight battalions of reinforcements, which the Government are sending to Syria, arrive.

A Beirut message says:—"A strong band of Druses is reported to have arrived at Hasbaya and to have occupied it. It is stated that strong reinforcements have been despatched in all haste. The Governor of the Great Lebanon has proceeded to Merdjeyoon to study the question of the security of the inhabitants.—(Reuter.)

ENGLISH PIG BREEDERS.

SHOWS ARRANGED FOR NEXT YEAR.

Sir Gilbert Greenall presided over a meeting of the National Pig Breeders' Association, held yesterday at 16 Bedford square, London. It was decided that three shows and sales of large white, middle white, and Tamworth pigs should be held in 1926 at Edinburgh and Reading in the spring and at Birmingham in the autumn. The Reading sale was fixed for 28th April, while the question of dates and venues for Birmingham and Edinburgh were referred to the secretary and honorary directors for the two sales.

A discussion arose with regard to continuing affiliation to the National Council of Pig Breeders and Pig Feeders, which, the Chairman reported, was being reconstituted, and would shortly be known as the National Association of Pig Industries. It was unanimously decided to renew the affiliation for another year, and to nominate one delegate for each breed of pigs.

An extraordinary general meeting of members of the National Pig Breeders' Association was also held to consider a resolution on the subject of amalgamation with the Long White Lop-Eared Pig Society, consequent on the winding up of the latter and handing over surplus assets.

The resolution was not carried.

THE ROSSLARE PORT.

WEXFORD FARMERS DEMAND RE-OPENING.

Wexford County Council, at its last meeting, decided that, in view of the statements made by the Department of Agriculture as to the manner in which Irish cattle were placed in the British markets, Rosslare port should be opened for the shipping of live stock. A deputation is to wait upon the Ministry for Industry and Commerce to discuss the matter.

Colonel C. M. Gibbon said that they had the port of Wexford, with which they were perfectly satisfied if a cattle boat service was run from Wexford. Yet although the Wexford Harbour Board and the Corporation brought pressure to bear on the company concerned, no cattle boat was put on from Wexford. The suggestion was that all classes in the county should combine to get the embargo on Rosslare port removed, so as to give Co. Wexford a chance. They understood that there was in existence an agreement with the railway company, and until such time as a cattle boat was provided at night, or until that agreement was cancelled by Act of Parliament, there would be no cattle boat run from Rosslare, although the latter port had the best facilities of any port in Ireland.

Mr. N. J. Murphy, seconding the adoption of the resolution which Colonel Gibbon moved, said that he had experience of shipping from Waterford, and he could safely say that if two animals were to be shipped from South Wexford the one sent from Rosslare would be in Birkenhead before the other left Waterford, and would arrive in better condition to the value of £2.

Mr. R. Corish, T.D., said that he was not going to vote for or against the resolution, as he did not want to prejudice his position, as far as his connection with Wexford Harbour Board was concerned. At the present time the Harbour Board were engaged in a campaign to get the trade back to Wexford port. At the same time, if he were asked to introduce a deputation to the Minister he would do so.

Coy. Gibbons' resolution, with the addendum that a conference with the Wexford Harbour Board and, if possible, with the Cork Steam Packet Co. should be arranged, was adopted. If the Cork Steam Packet Co. did not put on the boat they could go to Dublin.

THE BOY AND THE HANDKERCHIEF.

SUNDAY DRINKING IN CO. CORK.

"On the way to the house I noticed a boy waving a white handkerchief in the direction of the defendant's premises," said Guard Hurley at the Cork District Court, when Mrs. Mary Cronin, publican, 7 Dublin street, Blackpool, summoned for a breach of the licensing laws on Sunday, October 11th last, was fined £4, with an endorsement on the licence.

Matthew Hartnett, who was found on the premises, was fined 1s. and costs.

In the course of his evidence, Guard Hurley said that he found two men in the bar. Mrs. Cronin said that they were invited guests. One of the men, Hartnett, said that he was a traveller from Bishopstown, and he waited to see Mrs. Cronin's husband on business relating to cattle. The other man, Jeremiah Murphy, stated that he found the front door half open and he walked in and had a drink.

To Mr. Galvin, solicitor (for the defendant) —His suggestion was that the boy was placed there to give warning. He saw the boy give a signal.

And still you found two men in the public house? Yes.

Although it took you five minutes at least from the time the signal was given to your arrival at the publichouse? Yes, or a little more.

Civic Guard Crotty, who accompanied the previous witness, gave corroborative evidence. He saw the boy wave the white handkerchief in the direction of Dublin street. He had been waving it for fully two minutes. He saw three men being let out by the barmaid, and a couple of minutes after he heard a voice saying: "The police are coming."

Justice Sullivan decided as stated.

Neary, County Secretary of the A.O.H. said that there had recently been a lot of talk about halls, and the enemies of Hibernians wanted always to get a slap at them if they could. Culfer, solicitor for the prisoner, Justice Fahy adjourned the case for a week against Michael Lee, Kilbrahan, Tullogher, who was charged with setting fire to a rick of barley straw, value for £20, the property of his father, Patrick Lee. According to the evidence of Guard Jeremiah O'Shea, the accused had a dispute with his father and mother, and out of revenge set fire to the straw. When a crowd collected to extinguish the fire he armed himself with a bill hook, and frightened away the people. The prisoner was admitted to bail himself in £100 and two sureties of £50 each.

DERRY'S WATER SUPPLY.

STRONG CRITICISM OF NEW SCHEME.

The new Derry water scheme was severely criticised by Alderman Sir John McFarland at a meeting of the Corporation yesterday.

At Newtownhamilton Waterworks, Sir John declared, they were spending at the rate of a thousand a month. They had already spent £80,000 on unnecessary roads, and yet the whole affair was "in the air and in the brain of the City Surveyor." The work should be taken out of his hands.

The Mayor said that did not arise.

Alderman McFarland rose again and said that he wondered whether the work would ever be completed. They would be involved, he added, in £8,000 for law costs alone.

The Mayor said that he had given Alderman McFarland enough latitude. Alderman McFarland was going far beyond the business on the agenda.

Alderman McFarland hereupon alleged that the City Surveyor was doing nothing and was neglecting his duty.

Councillor Gilliland defended the scheme as being absolutely necessary, and said that the City Surveyor had taken every precaution to ensure that there would be an efficient supply. His devotion to his duty had resulted in his being laid up.

MOTOR FALLS INTO RIVER.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED IN CANADA.

MONTREAL, Tuesday.

A motor car containing five persons to-day crashed through the coping of a bridge near Farnham, Quebec, and fell into the Yamaskar River, 25 feet below. Two men and two women were killed, and one man was injured.—(Reuter.)

STRABANE RENTS DISPUTE.

CALL FOR AN INQUIRY.

A lively discussion arose at a meeting of the Strabane Rural District Council yesterday, when it was intimated that the Ministry of Home Affairs had written stating that they could not depart from their earlier decision to grant no more than 3d. per week increase (the Council had demanded an increase of 6d.) in the rents of labourers' cottages in the district.

Mr. Joseph Mills proposed that the Council should proceed with the scheme of repairs to the labourers' cottages, as it will cost them from £5,000 to £7,000. It might be, he said, that the Council would yet have to adopt the methods adopted in West Ham, where the people took the law into their own hands.

Finally, on the motion of Mr. McCrea, seconded by Mr. Robert Stevenson, J.P., it was agreed to ask the Ministry to hold an inquiry into the matter.

STILL NO WATER.

The work of boring for a village pump in Lanesborough (Co. Longford) has been suspended for the third time, the contractor being unable to find any trace of water. The expenditure already exceeds £200.

Lady Carson continues to make satisfactory progress.

NORTHERN IRELAND.

Certiorari Order Granted.—In the High Court, Belfast, yesterday, the Lord Chief Justice granted an application for a conditional order of certiorari to bring up and quash an order of two magistrates granting a publican's decree to James Evans, of Kildoag, Co. Londonderry.

Woodman Killed at Work.—David Park (60), Carrigans, Co. Donegal, labourer, lost his life under tragic circumstances. Deceased was engaged felling trees on the farm of Colonel M'Clintock, adjoining the village, when a trunk fell on him, pinning him underneath. At the inquest a verdict of accidental death was returned. The medical evidence showed that death was due to shock and laceration of the brain.

"Eyesore" or "Blind Corner."—There was considerable controversy at the meeting of the Londonderry Corporation regarding plans for building at the corner of Clarendon street and Strand road. Several members urged the approval of the plans on the ground that it would remove an eyesore, and others opposed them, as it would mean creating a blind corner. Alderman Moore said that to mend an eyesore by creating a blind corner was the wrong course. It was decided that the members should, in company with the City Surveyor, inspect the site before the next meeting, no action to be taken in the meantime.

Increase in Measles.—It was reported to the Belfast Guardians yesterday that during the week ended 7th November, fourteen scarlatina patients had been admitted to the Union Hospital, which, with the five cases already in that institution, made a total of nineteen. Fourteen cases of measles had been brought into the hospital, which, with twenty-seven already in, and allowing for five discharged in the week, left a total of thirty-six. This denoted a considerable increase in measles patients.

Remarkable Bus Mishap.—John Ritchie (22), Newtownards, was admitted to the Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast, yesterday, suffering from sever lacerations to the arm, sustained in a mishap to a Newtownards-Belfast motor bus. In the neighbourhood of Dundonald the vehicle skidded on the frosty road and ran into a telegraph pole, which was smashed, and in its fall broke through the roof of the vehicle.

Claim for Poisoned Sheep-dog.—At the monthly meeting of the Banbridge Rural Council, Messrs. Wallace and Co., solicitors, lodged preliminary notice of a claim for £25 compensation on behalf of Mr. James Bennett, Tullycairns, Dromore, for the loss of a fully-trained sheep-dog, alleged to have been maliciously poisoned on the road between Donaghcloney and Dromore.

Wanted Time to Get a "Wee" House.—At Newtownhamilton Petty Sessions, P. G. Shaw, J.P., sued John White, labourer, for possession of a house occupied by him in the town of Newtownhamilton. Applicant stated that seventeen weeks' rent at 3s. per week were due, and defendant refused. Complainant had been noticed by the Newry No. 2 R.D.C. to put the house in repair, and as a new roof was required he could not carry out the necessary work with White in possession. White said that he had paid 9s. of the arrears since the notice was served, and was trying to get a "wee" house in the town. A decree for possession, with a stay of execution for a month, was granted.

"He is Away with Your Money."—In the Belfast Custody Court yesterday John James Cooke, Windsor road, was charged with stealing 12s. 6d., the property of Messrs. C. Leucine and Co., 58 Upper Queen street. The manageress stated that the accused called for his daughter's coat, which was being repaired, and, while witness was upstairs getting it a woman in the shop shouted, "He is away with your money." Some time later the accused entered the premises again and told her he was sorry for what he had done. Mr. P. J. O'Donoghue, B.M., said that the accused acted very foolishly. He, however, had a clean record, and he would be allowed out on his own recognisances.

Society of St. Andrew.—The annual general meeting of the Belfast Benevolent Society of St. Andrew was held in the Shaftesbury Restaurant. The committee's report showed that a larger amount of money had been disbursed in relieving distress during the past year than at any time since the society was founded 69 years ago. The election of office-bearers resulted as follows:—President, Alderman James A. Duff, J.P.; Vice-Presidents, Messrs. J. Beckett Jenkins and James Mayhall; honorary chaplain, Rev. A. Wylie Blue; honorary physician, Dr. Robert Watt; committee, Messrs. William Adam, Colin Logan, James Wilkie, and John Polson; honorary treasurer, Mr. Thomas Hetherington; honorary secretary, Mr. Angus Kennedy, 6 Clarence street; honorary auditors, Messrs. A. H. Muir, F.C.A., and W. D. Macaulay.

In Armagh market yesterday flax was selling at 11s. 6d. to 14s. 6d. per stone.

Armagh Rural Council yesterday decided to adhere to their original resolution, asking for a Government loan of £5,000 for the purpose of making advances under the Small Dwellings Acquisition Act.

Mr. James Clarke, U.D.C., Dundalk, has been appointed a Peace Commissioner.

Mr. David McCann, ex-bank manager, died at his residence, the Strand, Youghal, yesterday, after a short illness.

DU CROS-DUNLOP ACTIONS.

ALL TAKEN OUT OF THE LIST.

In the Chancery Division, London, before Mr. Justice Eve, yesterday, counsel appearing for Sir Arthur Du Cros and his brothers said that they were plaintiffs against the Dunlop Rubber Company in three actions, and Sir Arthur was a party in four others that immediately followed in his lordship's list. He applied that all the actions should stand out of the list, with liberty to the parties to apply to restore. There were, in addition, two other actions, in which his clients were not concerned, and he was desired that they should stand out also.

His Lordship—Are you all agreed?

Counsel—Yes.

His Lordship—Take your order.

Counsel for Dr. Worthington, a party in the two cases of the D. R. Cotton Mills, said that he was instructed to agree.

WELSH TUNNEL EXPLOSION.

ONE DEAD; THREE INJURED.

One man was fatally injured, and three others very seriously hurt, yesterday in an explosion which occurred in the tunnel which is being bored for the North Wales Power Company from Elgwa Valley to the Cowley Valley.

The injured men were conveyed to hospital at Llandudno.

The tunnel has been under construction for many months, and work has been going on at both ends. The explosion occurred at the Elgwa end, and the victims were brought down to the edge of the cliff at Dolgarreg by the contractor's railway, and then transferred to a motor ambulance.

ARMED ROBBERY IN COUNTY DUBLIN.

Mr. Arthur Lovitch, commercial traveller, of 39 Longwood avenue, South Circular road, Dublin, was stopped yesterday in Crumlin and robbed of £6 in silver and notes. At about 1 p.m. he was riding through Ballymount lane on his motor bicycle when two men, one of whom was armed, jumped down from the ditch in front of the motor cycle. The unarmed man searched him and took the money, whilst the other held a revolver to his head.

DERRY SLOT METER THEFTS.

At a meeting of the Derry Corporation yesterday, the Mayor referred to the thefts from the slot meters in connection with the Corporation's free electric wiring scheme, and suggested that, as that was the first time that such a thing had happened, the Corporation should bear the loss of £20 involved, and not the householders whose meters had been rifled.

It was decided to fall in with the Mayor's suggestion, the householders to be notified that they would be responsible for any future similar loss.

U.S. MARKETS.

BIG SELLING MOVEMENT.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

Stocks opened heavy, and a subsequent panicky break depressed high-grade shares 5 to 27 points. Liquidation by the public and pools and bear raids caused enormous dealing in the final hour, when transactions were reaching a million shares, and the final sale was not recorded until 5.32 p.m., with the aggregate transactions reaching an unprecedented total. Fears that the raising of the Boston Federal Reserve rate foreshadowed a similar action by the New York Institution, which might mean a definite end of the prolonged bull market, inspired the selling. Chrysler Motor and Dupon slumped 27, Hudson Motor 18, Mack Trucks and U.S. Cast Iron Pipe 16, and General Electric 12. United States Steel Common sold at 128, compared with the "record" price of 130½ last week. The market closed demoralised. Governments Bonds easy; Railroad Bonds easy. The day's sales totalled 3,450,000 shares.

Money on call closed firm at 4¼ p.c. bid and 4½ p.c. asked. Actual business ranged from 4½ to 5 p.c., with the ruling rate 5 p.c. The last transaction was made at 4½ p.c. Sterling exchange steady. Silver unchanged at 69½.

The visible supply of Canadian wheat (including amount in bond in the United States) increased 1,264,000 bushels on the week, and now totals 40,531,000 bushels.

The unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation on hand at the end of last month amounted to 4,109,000 tons, compared with 3,717,000 tons in the previous month, and 3,625,000 tons at the end of October last year.

ARMISTICE DAY.

LETTER FROM FIELD-MARSHAL EARL HAIG.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES

SIR,—At 11 o'clock to-morrow morning the thoughts of all men and women will be concentrated in silent homage for two minutes on the immortal million who gave their lives in the service of their country during the Great War. When, two minutes later, the country resumes its normal course of daily business, no more fitting determination can be allowed to take root than the urgent necessity which imposes itself on each and all to do the utmost that lies in their power to mitigate the plight in which so many thousands of ex-Service men and their dependents are placed at the present moment.

Of the millions who will join in to-morrow's act of silent reverence, the majority will probably have performed some part of that duty towards the necessitous by purchasing a Flanders poppy, but there will be many thousands who can do more, and to these I desire most urgently to address an appeal for that extra to be done, and done promptly and liberally. Lest it should be supposed that the benevolent activities of the British Legion are within measurable distance of coming automatically to an end, as we recede from the years of war, it cannot be too widely known that the Legion is constantly being called upon to institute new ameliorative agencies for coping with the problems born of the war.

There are, for example, over 42,000 tubercular ex-Service men; there are more than 500,000 disabled men, including nearly 50,000 who are unemployed; there are 160,000 widows in receipt of pensions which are often inadequate; and there are some 300,000 orphans (including 18,000 who have lost both parents). Here are some typical sections of those who have suffered—and are still suffering—through the consequences of the war, and in their welfare the Legion, in accordance with the terms of its Royal Charter, takes an active interest. To cite only one instance of what is being done, I would mention that for the past twelve months the Legion has been responsible in every sense for Preston Hall, near Maidstone—that great settlement for tubercular ex-Service men and their families. There is room for nearly 300 families at Preston Hall, and the maintenance of such an institution, conducted according to the latest developments of modern science, constitutes in itself a heavy financial responsibility.

There are many other lines along which the work of relief, etc., must proceed, but lack of funds prevents their full development. In every case it is work of such a nature as to make a compelling appeal to the practical sympathies of the public, and I feel confident that my request for immediate and generous support will find a ready response.

Donations are the urgent need, and cheques, made payable to "Earl Haig's British Legion Appeal," and crossed "Barclay and Co.," should be addressed to 26 Eccleston square, London, S.W. 1.—Yours, etc.,

HAIG, F.M.

A CHEAP FOOD.

In proportion as the housekeeper's task becomes more difficult shredded wheat gains popularity. The majority of cereal foods must be cooked before they can be eaten. Shredded wheat, however, is the whole wheat, cooked in steam, shredded and baked, and, with the addition of milk, the biscuits may be eaten fresh from the package. A toasting in the oven improves the flavour of this food and restores its crispness; but the toasting is not necessary. The pouring of hot milk upon the biscuits prepares them in a few minutes. Shredded wheat makes very appetising and nutritious porridge.

A fine new but has just been erected at Ballymagroarty, near the Londonderry-Donegal boundary, for the "B" Special Constabulary of that border area. It is a commodious building, 60 feet by 20 feet.

Either we reduce our national expenditure or we cease to balance our Budget, and we descend to dangerous subterfuges of finance.—Lord Birkenhead.

That's why 18,000 housewives enthusiastically praise their "Triplex" Grates. Undoubtedly, there are more "Triplex" in use than any other grate because they are more simple, more efficient and more economical. After all, a stove that will boil, roast, keep plates warm, bake, keep a plentiful supply of water hot, all at the same time at a cost of 7d. a day, and yet be attractive enough to be installed in a living room is out of the ordinary, isn't it?

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

A COLD SNAP.

THE LIVERPOOL PROGRAMME.

LINCOLN CONCLUDES.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday Night.

There has been snow throughout the morning all over the English Midlands, and although none has fallen so far in this area the prospects to-night for fair weather to-morrow for the opening of the Autumn Meeting are none too bright. It is intensely cold, and there is every sign of a fall of snow. It is to be hoped that it will only be slight. Last year, it will be remembered, the second day's racing at this autumn fixture had to be abandoned on account of the fog.

It is a splendid programme in the main that will be gone through to-morrow, and there will be one of the best two-year-old fields of the whole of the back-end in the Knowsley Nursery, for which the two Irish fillies, Nanteau and Allets, have come to run. The form of both in the book reads to me to be good, and their respective owners seem to have no case for complaint about the way they are handicapped, as both are set to receive nearly 2st. from the top-weight, Devachon. I would like their chances better had Mascot run a little more forward than he did at Newbury on Saturday. It is to be doubted whether that was his true running, and I expect one or both of the Irish fillies to make a good show to-morrow.

Devachon's Chances.

Devachon has been sent to run, as have Dodder, Melor, Herbalist (who is much fancied), Bewitched, Buckler and Gliding Orb, while John's Son and Bayford are also likely to be in the field. We know that Devachon is immensely speedy, and it is only a question whether she is good enough to give weight away all round. She has, for example, to give 7lb. to John's Son and 8lb. to Bayford —a Swynford colt, who won in fine style at Sandown, and will probably have come on a good deal in the meantime. He was only just beginning to come to himself when he won at Sandown. Bewitched is very fast, but she is quite likely to destroy her chance by antics at the gate.

It should be a very interesting race to watch, but with so many useful ones in the field it is a little difficult to make a definite selection. His advantage in the weights makes me inclined to the chance of BAYFORD, but if Allets is anything like a first-class filly she must go very close, as I regard her as particularly well handicapped with only 7st. to carry.

It is very unfortunate for Mr. Hornung that Mooltan should have picked up a nail a few days ago, and has had to be withdrawn from the Liverpool St. Leger. It is possible that there will be only a small field for the race, and I choose GLOMMEN to win, though he may have some difficulty in giving all the weight to The Virginian, whom I noticed running very well behind Fleeting Friar and Cross Bow at Newbury last week.

Spithead has not come to run for the Lancashire Handicap, in which I thought he had an easy task, so it is likely that the Derby Cup will be his objective. Mr. Lambton has sent Palma Bay and Brodick Bay, but each has other engagements at the meeting. Voltoi has come on from Newbury, and ran so well there and will be so much better suited by the extra quarter of a mile of this race that she must be given a distinct chance. Pilum runs for Manton in preference to Daimyo, and Hidennis is also here, but I cannot see the chance of either.

Voltoi and Onyx III.

Bellman will be in the field, and I suppose his remaining followers will be inclined to speculate again on his chance. To my mind most danger to VOLTOI, whom I choose to win, will come from the French horse, Onyx III., who did not give his best running in the Cesarewitch.

I dealt at some length on Sunday night with the Belcher Chase, and there is little further to say except that Clashing Arms may be sent to run, but he is such an impetuous fencer that he can never have a really good chance on this course. Turkey Buzzard may strengthen the field, but I never thought he was in any sense of the word a Liverpool horse, and the issue remains between Silvo and RUDDYGLOW, with a preference for the latter.

No one was sorry to see the last of the bleak Carholme when racing had finished this afternoon and leave Lincoln for this city. It was a fair day's sport and three favourites won, which is something in these days. Jack Jarmin's stable provided a couple of these in Eagle's Corrie, who beat Venzelt a head in the Selling Nursery, and Bridal Chamber, who won the Apprentices' Plate easily.

Nevermore's Success.

Nevermore was the third favourite, but he shared the distinction with Linkman. He had rather an easy task in the Lincoln Autumn Handicap to beat Argo by a length and a half, with Linkman, five lengths off, third, and he notched up another success for the patient stable controlled by Walters, who never minds waiting a year with a horse.

Hataman, who started favourite for the Chaplin Nursery, did badly, but Lippia, the second favourite, seemed to have a good chance of winning for Lord Derby when he was challenged by a couple of outsiders. In a good finish Stung Again beat Black Cargo by a short head, with Lippia, a neck away, third. The winner is a colt by Hainault out of Hornet's Double, bred in Ireland, and ran in the colours of Mrs. Alfred Sadler, the wife of the Newmarket trainer.

The Irish-bred Lander seemed to have gone far down the scale this season, but he was good enough to bring off a 20 to 1 chance in the Hainton Selling Plate, in which he beat the well-backed Saucy Iris by a length.

LIVERPOOL.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME AND SELECTIONS.

A splendid Liverpool programme will be presented at Aintree this week, with races both on the flat and over the two kinds of obstacles, and, seeing that another National Hunt season will be entered upon in earnest in three weeks, considerable attention will be paid to the manner in which the prospective competitors in the Becher and Sefton Steeplechases shape. To-day's card is a most attractive one, and not the least interesting of the half-dozen events will be the Knowsley Nursery. Devachon is reported to be a certain competitor. She has not been beaten in her three races since dead-heating with Nothing Venture (gave 22lb.) behind Part Worn (level) on her initial appearance. John's Son is another that is gradually closing upon the top-sawyers of his age. This hard galloping track, which will—probably ride dead, will suit Hartigan's charge, as he can be depended upon to stay it out. Dodder, who has half a dozen consecutive wins to her credit, is another which will get the course all right, and her gameness is well known, but on Windsor August form, when Simony (gave 4lb.) ran her to half a length, the last-named reads well in here, as she now is in receipt of no less than 13lb. from Dodder. Through Moti Mahal, Herbalist appears to have the measure of several likely opponents, notably the much-fancied Bayford, and through Ripley, with whom Herbalist was tried last week, Lambton has learned how Herbalist stands with the others. Gliding Orb, Warspite, and Melon have claims, and the more one analyses the handicap the more open does it appear. Herbalist and Gliding Orb are bound to do well. Selections:—

KEROSENE BEATEN ON THE FLAT.

MANSER'S PRIDE GETS HOME.

The concluding day of the Cheltenham November Meeting was again favoured with wonderful weather, though it was cold. Fields were again of good strength. The Cowley Maiden Hurdle produced a sparkling finish, between the favourite, Kerosene, and the outsider, Redlynch, victory resting with the latter. Redlynch had been well placed in the early running, but dropped out half-way and looked beaten, and when Kerosene approached the last flight in front he was hailed as a winner. Redlynch, however, produced much the better speed on the flat, and won by half a length. Icarus, under his big burden, ran very well.

Nine runners contested the opening event, the Borough Selling Steeplechase, and Coxhill was installed favourite. He certainly was moving up to a challenging position at the last fence, but made a bad mistake, and Newtown Wonder, full of running, having led throughout, won comfortably.

In the next race, the Swindon Selling Hurdle, Nothing Higher was cleverly waited with until the last flight, when he sailed away from the opposition.

The Coventry Novices' Steeplechase provided a good finish between the two top-weights, Manser's Pride and Sutton Wick. Most of the leading was done by Hornet's Pride, but Manser's Pride was always lying handy. Between the last two fences he made his effort, which carried him safely home, followed by Sutton Wick, who made up a lot of ground in the last half-mile. Early Bird slipped up on the flat, but was re-mounted. Irish Prince and Lady Jaquenetta came to grief.

The three miles steeplechase gave Speck a wonderfully nice ride on Rosy Sun, who went to the head of affairs at the start and, never being headed, won by a length and a half. Bonaid eventually withstood a late challenge by Reading.

IRISH LADIES' TEAM IN AMERICA.

THE OPENING GAMES.

A CONTRAST IN STYLES.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK (By Mail), October 29.

Midst rain and wind we won our first match, defeating the 1924 American Overseas XI. 5-0. The fields are so good that the wet made no difference to the surface, which was hard all through, although slippery, but with well-studded shoes all was well. Of course, the Americans never play in rain, so that they were at a disadvantage. We were represented by the following team:—Goal—Miss McCullagh; backs—Miss Shillington, Miss Williams; halves—Mrs. Braund, Miss Cummins, Miss H. Dilworth; forwards—Miss McKissock, Miss Steen, Miss Fudger, Miss McCann, Miss T. Dilworth.

Umpires—Mrs. Charters and Miss Morgan (U.S.A.).

The game opened with even play up and down the field for some time. After a good run by Miss Dilworth play was in the American "25," and a rush by Miss Steen, following a good shot by Miss Cummins, resulted in our first goal. Play remained very even again. Miss McCullagh saving well twice. Just before half-time Miss McCann shot, Mrs. Krumbaar slipping, another goal resulted, half-time score thus being 2-0 in our favour. In the second half the American team rallied well, and for a time it looked as if they must score, but weak shooting and good work by our backs kept them out. Towards the end the rain and the slippery ground seemed to tell on our opponents, and three more goals were put in—Miss Fudger and Miss McCann (2), one of the latter a very clever shot from a difficult angle. Miss Jacob was quite the outstanding player on the American side. Miss Taylor and Mrs. Krumbaar doing good work, too.

Our team combined well, Misses McCann and T. Dilworth playing really good hockey, and the former making a serious effort to fit into the line—her shots were really brilliant. Miss Cummins was herself always steady. The two backs were excellent, and what Miss Shillington lacked in speed she made up for in head work. Miss McCullagh played very well, saving some difficult shots. In spite of the bad day, there was a good crowd to watch the match. We are considered very fast, and we certainly are much faster all round than our opponents so far.

After the match we were all entertained to tea in the clubhouse, a sumptuous building—dressingrooms, showers, lounge with carpets, fires and papers—quite unlike our clubhouses. Saturday night we were taken to the theatre by the team, which we enjoyed very much. Sunday, we were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Wear, of Philadelphia, to tea, meeting a number of people interested in hockey, and spent a very pleasant afternoon.

Monday was a free day—that is, no fixed arrangements. Some of us played golf, others went to the races, and the balance watched an exciting hockey match between the two teams, we had had practises with. Germantown v. the "Yellows." As we had been staying in turns first with one and then with the other we had to keep a strict neutrality. The Yellows won in the end after much excitement.

POUGHKEEPSIE.

Tuesday saw us travelling again back to New York, change stations, and then on to Poughkeepsie, where we are staying in Alumni Hall, the residence for past graduates of Vassar College, whom we meet to-morrow.

The match was played on the College field, which was dry, but very dusty and bumpy. The result, 2-1 in our favour, is not flattering, as we had at least a dozen more shots, some of which were saved and some hit the posts. The match, as a whole, was much faster than that at Philadelphia, which was only natural when one takes the ground into account. After the first few minutes' play the College scored a goal from close in, not giving Miss McCullagh much chance. The game then ran very evenly, but we failed to score in spite of several easy chances. Just before half-time Miss Fudger equalised with a good shot.

On restarting Mrs. Braund, who was playing right half instead of left, saved the situation well, checking a strong American rush. Apart from this play ran in our favour, but again and again we failed to score. Our opponents' marking was very good and quick, not giving time for any hesitation in the circle. As a result of a penalty corner, Miss Steen rushed in a goal from a rebound of a shot by Miss Cummins. Miss Small and Miss Varney, for the College, played very well, but the American teams we have met so far are inclined to put the science of the game before natural pace and dash, and therefore appear slow in some cases. As individuals, our team was much faster, especially in starting, stopping and quick turning. The match was umpired by Miss Roberts (A.E.W.H.A.) and Mrs. Charters.

All during this match the College girls who were watching burst into song whenever there was a pause in the game, conductors on the side-lines keeping the time with many frantic gestures and attitudes. The team were entertained after the match in one of the dining halls of the College, where 500 girls dine every night, and subsequently we had to hurry to be in time for chapel, which everyone is expected to attend. A concert was held after chapel, which was very enjoyable. To-day (Thursday) we have come back to New York, where we play at the Biltmore Club, one of the finest of the American sports clubs.

Tremendous interest has developed in the game during the past few years. Practically all the girls' schools and colleges in the States feature it as a major sport, and in many instances there are teams in every class in the schools.

LEINSTER LADIES' UNION.

Owing to the inclemency of Saturday's weather and the consequent state of the ground, all senior fixtures were put off, with the exception of the Victoria-Antiquity match, which resulted in a win for Victoria by 4-3. The condition of the ground prevented anything in the nature of good hockey, but the match was very even all through. Antiquity were unlucky in not being able to get their usual side, and had to field several substitutes. For the winners Miss Darling was most conspicuous, scoring two very good goals.

Before the end of the month Cup matches will have started, and already an amount of interest is being evinced in the draw. The contest this season ought to be much keener and closer than in former years, when Old College "A" or Maids of the Mountain were able to beat all other teams hands down. This year Muckross, Optimists, and Monkstown are fielding teams capable of holding their own with the best.

Of course, Old College are still very dangerous, and that without two of their usual side, Misses Dix and H. Dilworth, who are with the Irish team in America. The side could do with a steadier goal-keeper; but the fulls, Misses O'Loghlin and Hall, are generally speedy enough to get back to her assistance. The present half line is good enough for any senior team, Miss D. O'Riordan making a fine substitute for Miss H. Dilworth. Miss Cooper is the best of the line; and Miss Porter, new to the position of left half, has, so far, shown up creditably. The forwards are practically the same as last year, except that for the last few games Misses Hogg and Phillips have changed places on the right. Miss Hogg coming to play inside and making a very good hand of it. Miss Phillips is hardly fast enough for a wing, but otherwise is quite useful. The inside forwards back on Mrs. Prahe splendidly, and the latter certainly adds an individual scoring record.

So far Maids of the Mountain have not lived up to their reputation of running up a big score in every match; in fact, they have just managed to stave through in most cases, and were beaten 3-0 by Muckross. Two of the forwards, Misses McCann and Stein, are away, and Miss H. Wallis has had considerable difficulty in filling their places; and, in fact, has to do most of the forward work herself. Miss Tyndall (one of the substitutes) plays a good game, and has a strong shot; but the line, as a whole, lacks combination. The halves, when at full line turns out, are sound in attack and defence. Miss R. Wallis is rather a "find" as centre half. Of the two backs Miss Bradbury is easily the better. Miss Stoker, in goal, stops and runs well, but is apt to get over-anxious.

In going over the Muckross team, there is not a really weak spot on the whole side. The forwards play a fine, dashing game, the left being, if anything, stronger than the right. Of the line Miss M. Kelly (left inside) has fulfilled her promise of last season, when she was regarded as a coming international, and this year she should get a trial for representative matches. Miss Donovan has shown great speed and initiative, and, with Miss M. Kelly, makes a perfect left wing. Even among good halves Miss V. McGlaughlin (left) stands out on her own. She was very unlucky last season to be down with influenza when the trials came on, as she was actually picked on the reserve team against Connaught; but this season she may have better luck, and if so, will be sure to justify her selection. The fulls are both steady, Miss Hogan in particular showing accuracy in clearing and judgment in tackling. Miss Magee, in goal, has been playing well; she plays a cool, steady game, marked by excellent judgment. On the whole, Muckross stand a very good chance in the Cup this year; but there also at least four other clubs with equally good prospects.

Optimists is another team of the first rank. Either of the goal-keepers who have turned out for them this season, Miss Goodbody or Mrs. Orr, is capable of first-class play; but Miss Goodbody, being more accustomed to the position, is, naturally, more reliable. The fulls are both steady, with Miss Houston at times brilliant. The half line is, as it should be, the pivot of the team. Miss Ivanna is equally at home at left half or centre, and Miss N. Mooney is an admirable centre half. Miss L. O'Kelly always lets her forwards have plenty of the ball, a fact which, no doubt, is duly appreciated. A great acquisition to the forward line is Mrs. Gossett, who shows speed and initiative at inside right; and Miss Perrin, on the wing, has lost none of her pace and shooting ability. Miss Cleary, centre forward, is dashing in her methods, and possesses a strong and accurate shot.

Up to the present Monkstown have not been beaten; indeed, they have won most of their matches with comparative ease. Although lacking the services of Mrs. Pickeman at full-back, they seem to have got a very sound defence. Miss Daly and Mrs. Reid still figure among the forwards, and Miss Daly has been doing a considerable amount of scoring.

Neither of the Universities is particularly strong so far; but Trinity have not yet been able to field a full side, owing to examinations, so they may improve by Cup match time.

Alexandra College are really very good for such a youthful team, and they play a clean, scientific game; but can hardly be expected to hold out against the stronger senior teams.

LEINSTER LADIES' UNION.

Club secretaries are requested to note that all entries for the Senior Cup, Middle and Junior Hedges competitions must reach the hon. secretary, Miss K. Kelly, 47 Ashfield road, Rathgar, not later than to-morrow.

SMITH v. DAVIS.

Only 1,011 points separated Smith and Davis at the end of the afternoon session in their 18,000 game at Newcastle yesterday, though Davis had originally begun the match with a start of 6,000 points. The exhamination was again in remarkable form, and had the splendid average of 387 for two complete innings. After Davis had taken his over, eight unfinished 303 to 427, Smith had 197 and 129, and he closed the session with a capital 450 (unfinished). Davis in the meanwhile put on 161 and 48. Interval scores—Davis (receiving 6,000) 12,261; Smith (in play), 11,250.

Smith disappointed at the opening of the evening session, adding only 29 to his unfinished 450. However, subsequently he did very well, making breaks of 205, 111, 156, 75, and 136. Davis's chief runs were 190, 129, 74, and 168. Closing scores—Davis (receives 6,000), 12,853; Smith (in play), 12,002.

NEWMAN v. STEVENSON.

In his 18,000 match with Stevenson (receives 4,000) at Thurston's Hall, London, yesterday afternoon, Newman totalled 1,749 against Stevenson's 674. On the resumption of play Newman took his 39 (unfinished) to 561, which is the highest break made in London this year. He missed a forcing losers; but, after Stevenson had got in with 75, Newman put on 91. Subsequently Stevenson had 272 and 81, Newman's best efforts being 184 and 71. Interval scores—Stevenson (receives 4,000), 12,678; Newman (in play), 11,250.

Only once during seventeen innings did the champion pass the century mark, his moderate was his play. On that occasion his break was 212. Stevenson, who reached his session points for the first time in the match, had 134, 121, 102, and 68 (unfinished). Closing scores—Stevenson (receives 4,000) (in play), 13,533; Newman, 11,907.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

FORGED CURRENCY NOTES.

TWO BROTHERS ON REMAND.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

Joseph McDermott, an engine fitter, employed at the National Museum, Dublin, was remanded in custody until Monday next on a charge of having conspired with James L. McDermott, alias James McDermott, now on remand, to forge a number of £1 and 10s. currency notes.

Detective Durkin stated that between two and three o'clock on Monday afternoon he visited No. 2 Jones's road, where the prisoner, a young man, occupied a first-floor bedroom. There he found a large quantity of forged £1 and 10s. currency notes, and also a number of appliances used in the manufacture of the notes, and a quantity of colours, paints, drawing pens and paper, all of which were for the purpose of making the notes. He seized all the goods.

Between five and six o'clock on the same evening the witness went to the Museum and asked the accused man to account for the possession of the forged notes, the appliances for manufacture, etc. The answer which he received was: "It is not my property; it belongs to my brother. My brother was making them, and he wanted me to give him a hand, but I would not do so." The accused man made and signed a statement, which the witness would not put in evidence that day.

INSUBORDINATION IN THE UNION.

SIX INMATES SENTENCED.

(BEFORE MR. G. P. CUSSEN.)

Six men, temporary inmates of the Dublin Union, were sentenced to a fortnight's hard labour for insubordination.

Evidence was given by John Brennan, a ward master, that the six defendants refused to do the required three hours' work before discharge. They had been in the house since Monday night. There were 104 men there altogether, and all, with the exception of the defendants, went to work, though at first they refused in a body.

One of the defendants said that they were picked out individually and that the others then went back. "The treatment," he added, "we get there is not fair. We are left on the floor all night in wet, dirt and filth. It is inhuman to go through what we have gone through."

Another defendant said that the place is actually verminous.

THE 13TH CHARGE.

WINDOW CLEANER'S ALLEGED THEFTS OF MONEY.

Already remanded on ten charges of stealing money from houses in which he had been employed to clean windows, Alexander J. McCabe, whose address was given as Cuffe street, was further remanded on charges of having stolen £5 10s. from Mrs. Lyons, Castlewood avenue, on the 15th March, 1924; £10 from Miss Fitzgerald, William's Park, on the 5th February, 1924, and £8 from Mrs. Sheridan, 6 Elgin road, on the 7th February, 1924.

NORTHERN ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

MR. BABINGTON APPOINTED.

It is announced officially that the Governor of Northern Ireland, on the recommendation of the Prime Minister (Sir James Craig) has appointed Mr. Anthony Brutus Babington, K.C., M.P., to be Attorney-General for Northern Ireland, in succession to the Right Hon. Richard Best, K.C., who has been appointed a Lord Justice of Appeal.

Mr. Babington was elected Unionist member for South Belfast on Saturday last, when he defeated the Labour candidate (Alderman George Donaldson) by a majority of 10,000 votes. He was introduced by the Prime Minister and the Minister of Finance when he took his seat in the Northern House of Commons yesterday.

TRIBUTE TO ARMY CHAPLAIN.

PROMOTER OF ATHLETIC EFFICIENCY.

At the Staff Mess, Collins Barracks, Dublin, on Monday evening, a dinner was held and a presentation made to the Rev. T. J. O'Callaghan, as a mark of esteem in which he was held by the members of the Army Athletic Association, of which he had been chairman for over a year. Father O'Callaghan has been recalled for duty at St. James's Parish, Dublin, by the Archbishop of Dublin.

In presenting a beautiful chalice to Father O'Callaghan, Major Doyle, Vice-Chairman of the Army Athletic Association, said that it would be difficult to find their late pastor's equal in the Army as an organiser of athletic functions, and the success of all Army athletic fixtures for some time past was due to his efforts.

General O'Duffy also spoke of the good work of Father O'Callaghan, to whom, he said, was due the credit for much of the success which had been attained by the Civic Guards and the Army.

In reply, the Rev. Father O'Callaghan said that his daily memento should be that the country should ever have the services of the true men it had in its first Army.

YESTERDAY'S CASES IN THE COURTS.

DUBLIN TRESPASS CASE.

DAMAGES AGAINST THE CORPORATION.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN AND A SPECIAL JURY.)

The hearing was concluded of an action in which Mrs. Mary Anne Brannigan, Donore avenue, Dublin, sued the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Burgesses of the City of Dublin for having, by their servants and agents, trespassed on a field, her property, containing three acres, in the years 1922 and 1923, and having dumped thereon large quantities of rubbish, broken stones and other matter, and also breaking down gates and piers and otherwise injuring her property. Damages were laid at £1,000.

Mr. T. F. Battersby, K.C., Mr. James Geoghegan, K.C., and Mr. Cox (instructed by Mr. W. G. Armstrong, solicitor) appeared for the plaintiff. Mr. Albert E. Wood, K.C., Mr. Rice, K.C., and Mr. P. O'C. White (instructed by Mr. Ignatius J. Rice, Law Agent) appeared for the Corporation.

The defence entered was that the acts complained of were not committed; that the plaintiff did not suffer the damage alleged; that the defendants did what was complained of by leave of plaintiff, and that they relied on the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893.

At the previous hearing Mr. Battersby stated that altogether 7,777 loads of rubbish were deposited on the field. He examined Mrs. Brannigan, who stated that she protested against the trespass on, and interference with, her property.

Mr. John Devine, Cleansing Department, Dublin Corporation, said that he heard no complaint about the work until the field was filled. He last saw the field about a month ago. It appeared to be a very fine grass paddock. Since it had been filled the Brannigans had had cattle and sheep grazing on it. About the month of November, 1923, when the filling was completed, Mrs. Brannigan came to him and complained that they had destroyed her land.

Mr. Patrick H. McCarthy, engineer, said that he had inspected Mrs. Brannigan's field that morning. He found it virtually level, and the surface, for three-quarters of the area, was perfectly good and dry. The lower portion, near Donore avenue, was not so good. There was grass on the field at present, and it had obviously been used for cattle.

Peter Brannigan, the eldest son of the plaintiff, recalled at Mr. Battersby's request, said that he did not invite any member of the Corporation or any employé to deposit rubbish on his mother's field; neither did he assist the men in placing the rubbish on the field.

The jury awarded the plaintiff £55 damages, and, on the application of Mr. Wood, his Lordship put a stay of two weeks on the decree.

DONEGAL RIGHT OF WAY CASE.

THE DRAWING OF SEAWRACK.

(BEFORE THE CHIEF JUSTICE, MR. JUSTICE FITZGIBBON, AND MR. JUSTICE MURNAGHAN.)

The arguments were resumed in the appeal by the defendant in the case of McClintock and others against McNeely from an order made by Mr. Justice Meredith granting the plaintiffs an injunction restraining the defendant from trespassing upon the lands of the plaintiff, Miss Mary Anne McClintock, of Meenamony, by drawing seawrack gathered on the foreshore at St. John's Point, near Killybegs, Co. Donegal, across her lands to his own land adjoining in Ballyederland. The other two plaintiffs were the executors of the late John McClintock, deceased.

The defence was that the defendant had a right-of-way across the plaintiffs' lands for the purpose, which had been exercised by him and his predecessors in title from time immemorial.

Mr. Justice Meredith held that, in consequence of certain lettings made by the defendant to others, there had been an interruption of the user on his part within the meaning of the Prescription Act, which prevented him from going on the plaintiffs' lands at all.

Mr. Jellett, K.C.; Mr. M. Maguire, K.C., and Mr. Lavery (instructed by Mr. James Dunleavy) appeared for the defendant and appellant; and Mr. Price, K.C., and Mr. James Henry (instructed by Mr. Ralph Hall Reidy) for the plaintiffs.

The arguments having concluded, the Court reserved judgment.

ALLEGED OBSTRUCTION OF LIGHT.

TUAM APPEAL CASE.

An appeal came on for hearing which had been brought by the plaintiff in the case of Mitchell v. McHugh, from part of the judgment of Mr. Justice Meredith, in the action taken by the plaintiff, Mrs. Mary Mitchell, against the defendant, Peter McHugh, merchant, both of Tuam, Co. Galway, for an injunction restraining the defendant from continuing to obstruct the light to the plaintiff's adjoining house property.

It appeared that the plaintiff had bought two lots consisting of three roods and thirteen perches, comprising two fields or paddocks, and portion of a laneway, together with a slated cottage, and a barn, or walls of a barn, situated on the glebe lands of the Rectory of Tuam, See in the Diocese of Tuam, and that the defendant had purchased another adjoining lot of the same property. The action was brought in respect of the alleged interference with the access of light to the plaintiff's buildings through certain apertures in consequence of walls erected by the defendant on his plot.

Mr. Justice Meredith had granted an injunction with respect to the cottage portion of the plaintiff's premises, and refused an injunction with respect to the barn, and the appeal was from the latter part of his judgment.

Mr. W. G. Shannon, K.C., and Mr. Bewley (instructed by Mr. Henry Concannon) appeared for the plaintiff and appellant; and Mr. Price, K.C., and Mr. C. D. Maguire (instructed by Mr. F. B. McDonagh) for the defendant and respondent.

The arguments had not concluded when the Court rose.

GALWAY PRIEST'S ESTATE.

ALLOCATION OF RESIDUE.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

In the case of Mary O'Grady, of Gort, Co. Galway, against the Attorney-General, a summons for further consideration was brought by Mr. E. J. Kelly (instructed by Mr. James O'Brien, Nenagh) on behalf of the plaintiff in reference to the estate of the late Rev. John Nagle, P.P. Tubber, Co. Galway, who died in October, 1921. His will, counsel said, was very short, and bequeathed all that he had after payment of debts and funeral expenses, for Masses for the repose of his soul and for the souls of deceased friends and relatives, at the rate of 5s. per Mass. He named no executor. There was a brother who, having no interest in the estate, refused to apply for probate. The plaintiff moved in the matter as a creditor, and approached the Attorney-General, who consented to renounce his right to probate on condition that the estate should be administered in Court. The plaintiff accordingly obtained a grant as creditor, and she had received personal estate to the value of about £699. The whole sum had been lodged in Court to the credit of the matter.

Mr. Justice Meredith made an order referring the matter to Chambers for allocation of residue.

Mr. Costello, K.C. (instructed by Mr. T. Early) represented the Attorney-General.

AN £86,000 ESTATE.

APPROVAL OF SETTLEMENT IN TRALEE CASE.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

In the matter of the estate of Maurice Collins, late of Tralee, deceased, an application was made on behalf of the executors for the approval of the Court to a settlement arrived at in regard to the assets of Nora Collins, mother of the testator.

Mr. Binchy, for the executors, stated that the deceased, Maurice Collins, died on the 11th January, 1925, possessed of £86,000, which he devised on rather elaborate trusts for the benefit, in the first instance, of his widow, Kathleen Collins, and his infant son, John Collins. His mother, Nora Collins, died on the 26th July, 1924, having purported by an alleged will to dispose of her property, which amounted to £7,000. Maurice, in his lifetime, took steps to dispute this will, and a settlement was arrived at whereby Maggie Rattigan and Bridie Rattigan, beneficiaries under the alleged will of the mother Nora, should get £1,000 each. Counsel now applied for the approval of the Court to this settlement and for the administration of the estate of Maurice Collins.

Mr. Comyn, K.C., and Mr. O'Donnell submitted that the settlement was for the benefit of the infant, John Collins, whom they represented, and they supported the application for administration.

Mr. Bewley, for the Attorney-General; Mr. Moloney, for the widow, Kathleen, and Mr. Barry, for the Misses Rattigan, having consented,

Mr. Justice Johnston made an order approving the settlement, and adjourned consideration of the application for the administration of the estate of Maurice Collins.

WINDING UP OF THE "GALWAY EXPRESS."

MACHINERY AND PLANT WRECKED.

In the matter of the Companies Acts and the Galway Express Printing and Publishing Company,

Mr. Dickie, K.C., with whom was Mr. Conor Maguire (instructed by Messrs. John C. Conroy and Son), applied on behalf of Professor Michael Power, St. Mary's terrace, Taylor's Hill, Galway, for an order for the winding up of the company. Counsel said that this was an unregistered company. He read the petition, which stated that it had been intended to form a limited liability company. In 1918 capital was subscribed, and the premises, plant and good-will of the Galway Express purchased. The objects of the company were to print and publish a newspaper in support of the cause of Sinn Fein. On September 28, 1920, the machinery and plant were wrecked and destroyed. The sum of £2,250 was awarded to the directors as compensation. It was not intended to resume the business of the company, and a large number of shareholders desired that the names of the persons who subscribed capital be ascertained. The assets of the company were the £2,250 granted as compensation and interest on it.

Mr. Dickie said that two lots of capital were subscribed, and the petitioner believed that there was no accurate record available showing the names of the subscribers of the second lot. It was desired now to find out if there were any debts and what way the £2,250 would be distributed.

It was stated that the directors consented to the application for winding up, which was accordingly granted, the question of the appointment of a liquidator being referred to the Chief Clerk.

A QUESTION OF DOMICILE.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

Judgment was given in the matrimonial suit in which Mrs. Lilian Garner Hughes, of "Elsinore," Dalkey, Co. Dublin, claimed an order for divorce a mensa et thoro from her husband, George Edgar Hughes, on the ground of alleged matrimonial offences. The husband had entered an appearance under protest and without prejudice to his proceeding by way of petition, claiming a declaration that he is not domiciled within the Courts of Saorstat Eireann and is at present domiciled in Great Britain, and that the petition be dismissed on that ground.

Mr. Justice Hanna, in the course of his considered judgment, said he had carefully considered as carefully as he could all the evidence that was given by Captain Hughes, and starting, perhaps, not altogether with his mind in his favour, he had come to the conclusion that on a fair consideration of the facts, and believing, as he did, the evidence that the respondent gave, that he had, in fact, abandoned his Irish domicile and acquired a new domicile in Great Britain. Accordingly he was compelled to accede to the prayer upon the act of petition, and to dismiss the petition, with costs.

Mr. Wood, K.C., and Mr. Ryan (instructed by Messrs. Brown and McCann) appeared in support of the petition on behalf of Captain Hughes; and Mr. Lupton, K.C., and Mr. Meares (instructed by Messrs. M. J. O'Connor and Co.) for the petitioner, Mrs. Lilian Garner Hughes.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT

MOTORIST'S LICENCE SUSPENDED.

JUDGE REDUCES FINES.

(BEFORE JUDGE DROMGOOLE.)

John A. Murphy, Bloomfield Park avenue, Sandymount, appealed against a decision of Justice Collins imposing two fines of £15 each for driving a motor car at a speed dangerous to the public at Ringsend road on the 19th and 21st August last.

The appellant denied that he drove at a speed dangerous to the public.

The Judge affirmed the decision of the District Justice, but reduced the fines to £5 on each of the two convictions and suspended appellant's licence for six months from this date.

CONVICTION REVERSED.

Mr. John J. Reddy, 52 Dawson street, appealed against the decision of Justice Collins imposing a fine of £6 for driving his motor car at a speed dangerous to the public on the 11th August, 1925, last.

Having heard the evidence, the Judge reversed the decision of the District Justice.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

SUNDAY DRINKING IN RATHFARNHAM.

Patrick Walker, publican, Rathfarnham, appealed against a decision of the District Justice imposing a fine of £5 for a breach of the licensing regulations on Sunday, 6th September last. The conviction was ordered to be endorsed on the licence.

Guard Curtin's evidence was that he and Guard Culleton entered the licensed premises of the appellant at 5.45 p.m. and found several men there. He asked the doorman if all were bona fide travellers, to which the latter replied, "Yes." In a passage behind the counter he found five men, all of whom had pints and bottles of stout before them. Mrs. Walker, when questioned by witness, said that Mr. Walker was out, and the doorman then came up and said: "It is all my fault; I let the men in."

Mr. Walker stated that he had been on the door all that Sunday until about a quarter to 6 o'clock, when he accompanied two ladies to see some new houses in the vicinity. As he was going out he told the doorman to clear out all the "bona fides," to close the shop and not to allow anyone in. A few minutes afterwards he was told that the Guards were in the house.

Mr. Joseph Healy (for the appellant) submitted that the doorman, having received definite instructions, had acted beyond the scope of his authority, and, therefore, that the publican was not to blame.

Judgment was reserved.

"NO SALE" DECISION.

JUDGE'S COMMENT IN LICENSING APPEAL.

Thomas Shine, spirit merchant, 12 and 13 Patrick street, appealed against a fine of £3 imposed on him by Justice Collins for allowing consumption of liquor on his premises after closing time on Saturday, 22nd August.

Sergeant Doody stated that at 9.55 p.m. he found a man and a woman in the "snug."

They said that they were staying with Mr. Shine. When witness entered the premises appellant stated that there was no one inside, and when questioned about the presence of the man and woman, who were husband and wife, he said that he did not think it was necessary to mention them, as they were friends. Going upstairs witness found in a bedroom a woman, who was drunk, and a child. Appellant said that she was his wife, but witness discovered that appellant's wife had been dead a year. In the vicinity he found a bottle and a glass, which bottle, he contended, was sold to the woman.

"WITH GREAT RELUCTANCE."

For the defence it was contended that there was no sale; that the wo

COURTAULDS FLUCTUATING.

Business was again poor in volume on 'Change yesterday, and fluctuations in prices were also more limited. The Funds were quietly firm, without feature. Dublin Corporation Stock closed firm. Banks were generally well supported, especially Nationals, but Bank of Ireland Stock fell back a little. Marconi Shares were dull. Among Breweries, Guinness Shares were quiet and easier in trend, after a steady opening. Distillery Shares were generally on sale. Rails were quiet, with slight irregular price movements. Trams were also idle, with the 3½ p.c. "A" Debs. held for 65, but a point or two less unofficially bid. Considerable support was in the market for Coats Ord. Shares, but apparently no business was done, until the later market, when the price was harder. Courtaulds, on the other hand, were still subject to profit-taking, but closed well over lowest. Tobaccos were quiet, but a further advance was paid for British-Americans. Cottons and Listers again advanced. Lever Brothers Pref. issues were firm. Kivuvu Rubber were wanted at a higher level. Dunlop Rubber Ord. Shares were actively realised most of the day, but finally closed over lowest. Shell Transports and British Controlled eased again on profit-taking.

LONDON DULL.

FOREIGN RAILS RISING.

The volume of business transacted in the London Stock Markets yesterday was again on extremely small lines, and in the absence of support a somewhat weaker tendency developed in several directions. There were few features, but Foreign Rails continued good in tone, and United Havana and Antofagasta made further appreciable improvements. A slightly irregular tendency was noticeable in the gilt-edged market, but on balance price changes were in favour of holders. Another quiet session was experienced in Foreign Government Stocks, and prices were inclined to dwindle. Little interest transpired in Home Rails. In the Colonial and Foreign Rail market United Havana continued a strong market, and a further substantial improvement was recorded at the close. Antofagasta Ord. were also in good demand, and a good gain was registered. Grand Trunk Pacific 4 p.c. Debs. went higher, but the Guaranteed 4 p.c. eased the turn. Business was quiet in the Rubber Share market, and with little support forthcoming prices dwindled.

PERMATANG (MALAYA) RUBBER ESTATES, LTD.

The prospectus is published to-day of the Permatang (Malaya) Rubber Estates, Ltd., a company with a capital of £100,000 in £1 shares, of which 87,750 are offered for subscription at par, and the balance of 12,250 are under option to the vendor, the Ethelburga Syndicate, Ltd., at par, to 31st December, 1928. The syndicate bought the estate at £55,660, or about £63 per planted acre, and are selling at the same sum to the company. The inspector has valued the estate at £75,392. The directors estimate that in the first year, with rubber at 2s. 6d., they will earn 13.3 per cent. on the capital, and in the seventh year 24.6 per cent., with rubber at 2s. The estate is situated three miles from the town of Kota Tinggi, in the State of Johore, Malaya, from which there is direct communication by steamer with Singapore. The estate has been under European management and administration from the time when planting began. The area of the estate is approximately 2,088 acres, of which about 857 acres are planted with rubber, and the reserve land is 1,113 acres. The planted land is in a compact block, with a frontage on the road of one mile. The reserve land is on the opposite side of the road, in a compact block, with a frontage of 55 yards. The soil of the planted area is good, and on the reserve it is equally good. The land on the reserve is steeper, but at least 700 acres are plantable. The growth of the trees is satisfactory, and the planted area is practically free from lalang. The tapping is good, little bark having been used. The labour force is sufficient for present requirements. The standard production from the 1st November, 1925, is expected to be 158,400 lbs., when the final adjustment is made. The subscription list will open to-day and close to-morrow, and applicants should use the form attached to the prospectus in another column. The bankers are Lloyd's Bank and branches.

AFRICAN AND EASTERN.

It is officially announced that the recent issue of "B" Preference and Ordinary Shares by the African and Eastern Trade Corporation has been over-subscribed. Applicants for surplus shares will be allotted 44 per cent. of the applications, and allotment letters for these will be posted at the end of the week. The offer, made to the ordinary shareholders, comprised 469,632 Ordinary Shares of £1 each at £1 5s. per share, and an equal number of 6 per cent. "B" Preference at par. The new Ordinary Shares will rank for the final dividend for 1925.

SCOTTISH OIL CRISIS.

Scottish Oils, Ltd., has issued a final appeal at Glasgow to the employés to accept the wages reduction or the works would be closed down. They pointed out that the loss in six months exceeded £77,000. The efforts of the Ministry of Labour to reach a settlement resulted, at a conference, in the whole question being once again referred back to the union delegates. The question of the possibility of a strike will be disposed of this week.

ANGLO-PERSIAN OIL COMPANY.

At the meeting of this company in London yesterday (a full report appears in another column), the Chairman gave a most favourable account of the position and prospects of the industry in Persia, where several good developments in new fields were foreshadowed.

VALUE OF MALAY RUBBER.

A comparison of the rubber figures for the three years during which the Stevenson restriction scheme has been in operation shows that Malaya earned no less than $315,069,616, whereas without restriction the amount of earnings, on the basis of 1921-22 figures, would have been only $412,575,963, thus showing that restriction was responsible for a net gain of $402,493,653. The amount of duty collected on rubber exports by the Federated Malay States during the month of October was $1,017,712, and by the Straits Settlements, $139,451.

LONDON MOVEMENTS.

There was no noticeable improvement in the volume of business transacted in the gilt-edged market yesterday, while a slightly irregular tendency prevailed. Among War Loans, the Fives at 100⅛, and the Fours at 100⅛, were ⅛ bid ar ⅛ higher, respectively. Conversion Loan 3½ p.c., on the other hand, dropped back to 75⅞, or ⅛ lower.

Business remained small in the Foreign Government stock market, and the general tendency was to lower prices. French Loans, however, were well held, while Reconstruction Loans, with the exception of German Sevens, which lost ⅛, were also without change. Peruvian Corps. eased, the Ord. closing ½ lower at 4⅞, and the Pref. ⅛ lower at 34. Chinese 4½ p.c., 1896, at 76, and the 5 p.c., 1912, at 63, were both a point down.

ANTOFAGASTAS AND HAVANAS STRONG.

In the Colonial and Foreign Rail market, United Havana Ord. continued on the upgrade. Another good business was put through, and the price rose further to 10⅝ x.d., or a point above the overnight figure. Antofagasta Ord. were another strong spot, and here an improvement of 2 points was registered to 94. Cordoba Central Second Pref. made further headway, the final level of 54½ being 1½ points higher. Entre Rios Ord. gained ½ to 52½, while Grand Trunk Pacific 4 p.c. Debs. at 47½ were a full point higher. Grand Trunk 4 p.c. Guaranteed, on the other hand, shed a similar amount to 79. Buenos Ayres issues were quiet and unchanged, while Canadian Pacifics were content to repeat their lower level of Monday.

RUBBER SHARES WEAKER.

The volume of business put through in the Rubber share market yesterday was on a small scale, and in the absence of support prices displayed a distinctly easier tendency. The majority of the recognised leaders went back, and many of the more speculative issues were also lower, while in only a few instances were higher prices returned. A quiet and irregular tendency characterised the commodity market, and the quotation for the raw material dropped back. Spot rubber sold at 3s. 10½d., 3s. 10¾d. and 3s. 10¼d. per lb., while November fetched 3s. 10½d. per lb. In the share market, Sungei Buaya were a firm spot, and the final price showed an increase of 1s. 3d. to 62s. 3d. Kuala Lumpurs, on the other hand, were an exceptionally dull spot and the final figure was 6s. 3d. easier at 98s. Batu Tiga shed 3s. 4½d., while Anglo-Sumatra and Bah Lias were 1s. 6d. and 1s. 3d. lower respectively. Glenbervie shed 2s. and Kuala Mods 1s. 1½d., while Malayalam at 26s. 9d. were 1s. down. Membakut also showed back 1s. 3d., while Linggi at 52s. 7½d. were 1s. 10½d. lower. Sapong dropped 1s. 10½d. to 71s. 7½d. Sungei Krian Pref. at 65s. 9d. were 1s. 10½d. lower. Sumatra Cons. were an exceptionally dull market, and here a decline of 4s. was recorded to 52s. Telogordjo and United Sua Belong eased 1s. 3d.

OIL SHARES QUIET.

Except in a few specialities the volume of transactions in Oil shares was smaller yesterday, and the market generally had a much quieter appearance. Professional activity continued in speculative favourites, and particularly in British Controlled, and there was still a fair amount of public interest, although the latter was confined mainly to the recognised leaders. The price movements finally recorded were once more of an irregular character. Opening at 19s. 4½d., British Controlled Common fell to 19s. 3d. offered, rallied to 19s. 6d., and left off in the "street" business, on resale, at 19s. 5½d., the day's business being a decline of 4½d. The Pref. fluctuated in similar fashion, and also registered a loss of 4½d. at 18s. 10½d. Vague rumours were again in circulation concerning the company, one being to the effect that the company may be reconstructed. No information on this point was obtainable from the offices of the company. British Controlled issues were a difficult market throughout the day, and it is obvious that the fight between the "bulls" and "bears" continued unabated. Lago shares advanced at one time to 30s. 3d., and closed with a gain of 6d. at 30s. V.O.C. Holdings made a firm start, being quoted at 24½, but the price receded on a moderate amount of offering, and at the close no sale was recorded, the Ord. leaving off at 24⅛ and the Prefs. at 24¾. Among the recognised leaders, Shells, despite the fact that they came over lower over-night from New York, continued to display firmness. Opening at 4⅞, they weakened at one time to 4⅝, but rallied to the opening price, which left them ⅛ up on balance. Mexican Eagles were comparatively quiet, fluctuating within narrow limits and finishing slightly easier at 16s. 1½d., the 8 per cent. Pref. and Copes on selling from the North shed ⅛ to 3½, although few shares changed hands. Business among Banks was of a desultory character.

Shipping Shares, save a loss of 6d. in Court Line to 27s., were devoid of feature. Favoured by better trade advices and supporting orders, Coal, Iron and Steel shares made a better showing. Tamberts proved a feature with a rise of ⅜ to 9½, and Howard and Bullough improved. Consetts finished 9d. to the good at 21s. 6d.; United Steels put on 6d. to 5s. 9d., and, although other movements were limited to a few pence, the tone was cheerful. Foodstuffs were little dealt in. Van Den Berghs gained ⅛ to 1⅛, and Maypole Dairy 1d. to 5s. 9d. Among Cabarets, J. Lyons met with small inquiry and rose ⅛ to 3½.

COMPANY MEETING.

ANGLO-PERSIAN OIL COMPANY, LIMITED.

RELATIONS WITH THE PERSIAN GOVERNMENT.

The sixteenth ordinary general meeting of shareholders in the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, Ltd., was held at Winchester House, Old Broad street, London, E.C., yesterday—Sir Charles Greenway, Bart. (Chairman of the company), presiding.

The Secretary (Mr. John Clark) read the notice convening the meeting and the report of the auditors.

The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report, in the course of his speech, said—Gentlemen, the report and accounts are again of a very satisfactory character and continue to reflect the successful progress which the company is making. Our chief aim and object during the past twelve or thirteen years has been to build up an absolutely self-contained organisation—capable not only of producing our crude oil, but also of refining it, and of transporting and distributing its products direct to consumers wherever there may be a profitable outlet for them, without the intervention of any third parties—and I think that we may now claim that we have successfully achieved that object, and have fairly established ourselves as one of the leading oil companies of the world. The advent into the world's markets of a new and powerful competitor has, of course, aroused a good deal of opposition; but, whilst we shall always be ready to enter into any arrangements with our competitors that will serve the purpose of reducing costs to the consumer, it is an essential of any such arrangements that we should retain our own individuality. (Hear, hear.)

PROFITS.

Dealing with the profit and loss account, you will remember that last year I indicated that, subject to there being no further material decline in prices, I was hopeful that the profits for the year under review would show a substantial increase. This hope has been realised. The trading profits show an increase of over £1,500,000, and the net profits, after deducting the larger amounts payable in respect of royalty, income tax, etc., an increase of about £1,120,000. I should explain further that the figure of £4,598,676, shown in the profit and loss account as "balance of profit," has been arrived at after providing collectively in our main concerns a sum of over £3,500,000 for depreciation, which result, I am sure, you will all regard as eminently satisfactory. Out of the £5,571,966 brought down from the profit and loss account we have appropriated to extra depreciation and various reserves a total of £1,193,000, as against a total of £565,000 only in the previous year, and that the balance at the credit of the profit and loss account remaining to be dealt with, including £1,746,643 carried forward, amounts to £4,066,549. Out of this, after allowing for Preference Share dividends, we recommend payment of a dividend of 12½ per cent. on the Ordinary Shares, absorbing £1,118,750, and carrying forward a balance of £2,072,799, subject to excess profits duty, if any, for the year ended 31st March, 1921, and corporation profits tax for the year ended 31st March, 1926.

DIVIDEND.

As regards the dividend which we have recommended on the Ordinary Shares, we might easily have recommended a higher figure, but I think most of you will agree with us that our first consideration should be the building up of a strong financial position, and that it is, therefore, advisable to continue the policy of conserving our resources as much as possible, at any rate, until we have accumulated funds commensurate with the gigantic extent of our business, being content in the meantime with the knowledge that we shall thereby be gaining more by the consequent appreciation in the value of our assets than we are losing for the time being by denying ourselves a little in the form of higher dividends. However, I am pleased to be able to announce that we now see our way, unless some unforeseen contingency arises, to falling in with the desire expressed by shareholders for the payment of interim dividends on our Ordinary Shares—(hear, hear)—and our first interim dividend will probably be declared in April or May next. As to the outlook for the current year, all I can say at present is that, subject to there being no serious decline in prices between now and the end of the financial year, we can, I think, look forward with confidence to results at least as favourable as those for the year under review.

MARKETS.

As regards the market for petroleum products, it is at the moment more than usually difficult to gauge the future course of prices. The production of crude during the present year will show a substantial increase in every important producing country in the world, excepting Mexico. The total increases for the year will probably amount to about 8,000,000 tons, and the decrease in Mexico to nearly 4,000,000 tons, leaving a nett increase in the world's supply of about 4,000,000 tons, or a little under 5 per cent. But, speaking broadly, the consumption of the various products fully keeps pace with the increase in supplies, and, though there is every possibility of further increases in production, these will, in my opinion, be fully off-set by the continuous expansion in the demand for oil products which must result from the improvement in economic conditions which is taking place in practically every country of Europe, and from the extended use which is daily being found for these products in nearly every branch of industry. In any case, there will, I am confident, always be a remunerative outlet for all the oil of good quality which can, as in Persia, be produced at a low cost. In this connection, I would again remind you, that every drop of crude we produce is obtained from flowing wells of large calibre, which, of course, means that it is raised at the minimum of cost. These wells, I may add, are all connected with a central storage and pumping station, at which at any time of the day the flow from the wells can be varied to any degree required.

FIELDS AND PRODUCTION.

The developments in our main fields continue to more than justify all our expectations. Our policy of extending the area of oil-bearing territory has been vigorously and successfully continued since I last addressed you, and it will, I am sure, come as welcome news to you, that the productive area has now been extended along a line of strike running continuously five miles north-west and over five miles south east of the well-known F7. Following on much investigatory work on the chemical and engineering sides, an important and comprehensive scheme has been adopted for recovery of petrol from the fifty million cubic feet or more of gas which come off daily with the oil from all parts of the main fields, only a portion of which has hitherto been utilised. The installation of the necessary plant is now well in hand, and there is every reason to hope that this scheme will considerably augment our production of petrol, and thus prove very profitable to the company. All necessary field developments are steadily and punctually following the drill, and I think it may fairly be claimed that our main fields are not only the largest and the most prolific, but also the best equipped that the world can show.

As I have explained on previous occasions, our policy in regard to our main fields is a conservative one. The wells, drilled and coupled to the production lines, are capable of yielding far more than could be dealt with at present by our existing pipe lines, refineries, tankers and marketing organisations. However, we can happily record a steady progress in all these complementary facilities, and, in consequence, a correspondingly increased production.

To illustrate this, I cannot do better than continue the table of figures recorded at previous meetings, viz.:—

1918-19	our production was	1,106,415 tons
1919-20	do.	1,385,301 ,,
1920-21	do.	1,743,557 ,,
1921-22	do.	2,327,221 ,,
1922-23	do.	2,959,028 ,,
1923-24	do.	3,714,216 ,,

and last year 4,335,933 tons—(applause)—against my estimate last year of 4¼ to 4½ million tons.

The current year is largely one of stabilisation of the position we have already achieved —or, in other words, of securing the best possible results in every direction from our present production—prior to embarking on yet larger developments. For this reason production in the year 1925-6 will probably not exceed 4½ million tons. I am not able to record the discovery of any new areas elsewhere in Persia having prospects comparable with those of the present producing areas.

As a result of general geological survey work, followed by an authoritative and comprehensive geological reconnaissance, no less than six new areas have now been indicated as meriting immediate test with the drill, and the necessary work is well in hand. I have on previous occasions referred to a new area where the existence of appreciable supplies of oil had been definitely proved. This area, known as Naft Khana, is on the borders of Persia and Iraq, and is situated in what is known, so far as the Iraq portion is concerned, as "the transferred territories." This company possesses the oil rights in "the transferred territories" by virtue of an international agreement executed in 1913, following on a rectification of frontiers. This agreement has since been ratified by the grant by the Iraq Government of a formal concession of these rights, and a separate company, with a capital of £1,000,000, is about to be registered to take over this concession. Drilling is steadily continuing in this field with the view of proving definitely the existence of oil to such an extent as would justify the cost of laying a pipe line linking the field with the seaboard. There is reason to hope that this may prove to be the case, but capital expenditure of the magnitude indicated will not be undertaken until its justification is fully established.

OIL IN THE ARGENTINE.

Turning to developments outside Persia, I am glad to say that our relatively small holdings in the Argentine continue to be productive. At the time of our last annual meeting we had produced some 25,000 tons of oil. Since then an additional 84,000 tons have been obtained, and the field, which is being very economically run, is now established on a profit-earning basis. Since we last met a concession has been obtained from the Albanian Government over areas amounting to approximately 80,000 acres, which were selected by us after careful geological survey, and drilling on these commenced a month ago. The discovery of oil in this country would, of course, be of great importance, but obviously it is too early to indicate the possibilities of success.

REFINERIES.

All our refineries have worked throughout the year in accordance with programme, and the position may be regarded as very satisfactory. Much has been done with a view to the reduction of working costs, and developments now in view promise to result in further substantial economies in the refinery operations. As I estimated last year, the throughput at Abadan was over 2,800,000 tons. Heavy capital expenditure has been necessary at this refinery during the last few years, but our energies are now chiefly directed to the consolidation of what we have got and to effecting reduction in operating costs by improvements in refining processes and by the installation of more modern plant in place of older units.

The throughput at Llandarcy was well maintained, being some 50,000 tons in excess of the previous year (914,250 tons against 864,795 tons). A greater variety of products was manufactured, enhancing the value of the "refined ton," and new plant is still being gradually introduced into this refinery in order to enable us to produce a yet more varied series of products. A noticeable feature has been the keenness in the district to obtain employment in the refinery, due to the stability of our industry as compared with others in the neighbourhood. At Grangemouth the Persian crude throughput reached the creditable figure of 263,000 tons. Excellent yields and products continue to be obtained. The refinery of our associated company in Australia—the Commonwealth Oil Refineries, Ltd.—has operated steadily and satisfactorily. Operations in the refineries of our other associated companies continue to be satisfactory, but call for no special comment.

THE SHALE INDUSTRY.

With regard to Scottish Oils, Ltd., in which, as you know, we hold £1,000,000 in Ordinary shares and the public £3,000,000 in Preference shares, I am sorry to say that the decline in market values, to which I referred last year, and the termination since then of a remunerative long-term contract, has again placed the shale industry in a very adverse position, with the result that this portion of that company's business is now being carried on at a very heavy loss. Various efforts have been made with a view to ascertaining if any possible measures can be found for averting the serious addition to the list of unemployed which would be caused by the closing down of such an old-established industry. The closing down would not only mean loss of employment to the workers in the mines, but also to the men employed in the crude oil works and refineries, and in collieries and other industries dependent upon the shale fields in a district where there is little chance of the workers finding other employment. It, therefore, should be avoided, if at all possible, in view of the appalling amount of distress that would result therefrom. The directors of Scottish Oils, Ltd., have, of course, done everything they reasonably can to keep the industry alive, and thus avert the threatened disaster, but obviously the shareholders cannot be expected to bear the whole burden of carrying on operations which can only be conducted at a heavy loss.

DISTRIBUTION.

On the distributing side of our business, we are, I am pleased to say, continuing to make satisfactory progress. Our now well-known brand of petrol—B.P.—gains daily in appreciation, and our sales of it show steady expansion in every country into which it has been introduced. Our other products also command a high preference, owing to the excellence and regularity of their quality. The only petroleum product of importance which we are not yet placing in large quantities on the world's markets is lubricating oil, but in that also we shall before long be in a position to take our share of the available trade. We have our own oil associated distributing organisations in Persia, Iraq, the United Kingdom, the Irish Free State, France, Belgium, Italy, Denmark, Norway and Australia, and arrangements are in progress for establishing distributing facilities in such other countries as offer remunerative outlets for our products. In connection there is one other point to which I should like to refer, and that is the astonishing lack of knowledge which still appears to prevail as to the fact that "B.P." is the product of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company. Notwithstanding that in advertisements it is always explained that the British Petroleum Company is the distributing organisation in this country for the Anglo-Persian Company, and the appeals to consumers which are continually appearing in the Press to support British industries, we are every day coming across consumers and garage proprietors who express the utmost surprise at learning that "B.P." is the spirit manufactured by the Anglo-Persian Oil Company in this country, and the only spirit of purely British manufacture in the market.

RELATIONS WITH THE PERSIAN GOVERNMENT.

The past year has been characterised by one important event in connection with our relations with the Persian Government, in a visit to our oilfields and to our refineries at Abadan by His Imperial Majesty the Shah Pehlevi, who has, as you are no doubt aware, recently been given, by vote of the Mejliss, full control of the State. This is the first occasion on which our operations in Persia have been inspected by so high a personage, and I am pleased to report that His Highness expressed the utmost gratification in the great work which has been achieved by us in face of the many difficulties attendant upon carrying on operations in a country devoid of transport and other commercial facilities.

I now beg to move:—"That the report, balance sheet and profit and loss account for the year ended 31st March, 1925, be received, approved, and adopted."

Lord Bradbury seconded the motion, which was agreed to unanimously.

The Chairman then moved:—"That a dividend at the rate of 12½ per cent. per annum, less income tax, be declared on the Ordinary shares of the company in respect of the year ended 31st March, 1925, and that such dividend be paid on the 30th November, 1925."

Sir John Cargill seconded the motion, which was unanimously approved.

The retiring directors and auditors were re-elected, and the proceedings terminated with votes of thanks to the chairman, directors and staff.

LONDON MINING MARKET DULL.

BUSINESS ON A SMALL SCALE.

Somewhat dull conditions prevailed in several sections of the House yesterday, the reason for this condition of affairs being generally attributed to the financial position in France. Business generally was on a modest scale, and, in the absence of any increase in public orders, professionals were inclined to mark prices down. This was the case in the Mining market, where, however, certain specialities were still being quietly picked up. In the Kaffir section the Anglo-American group made quite a good showing in the early hours, there being good buying of Anglos themselves, part of which was traceable to Johannesburg, which centre was also supporting West Springs and a few other favourites. The movements on balance were slight, and most of the leaders, including City Deep, Modderfontein, New State Areas and Rand Mines, were fractionally easier.

Paris came in a buyer of T.C.L., and a sharp rise in the price helped the other Platinum issues, though the only one to show any quotable improvement was Transvaal Developments. The tone at the close was very quiet. In the Rhodesian department Chartered went ahead, and there was a good deal more doing in Tanks and Zams, both of which improved, while Cam and Motor were a strong feature, being actively bid for on the latest development news. Paris sold De Beers in the early hours, but the price rallied later. Other Diamonds were idle. The price of tin declined £1 to £280 2s. 6d. per ton, and the share market was listless. Rio Tintos were lower in Copper Shares, and small shrinkages were reported in South American and Hampden. The increased distribution of Mount Lyell brought in further inquiries, and another gain was shown. Elsewhere there was very little doing. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANS IN GOOD SUPPLY.

DISCOUNTS WEAKER.

With the repayment yesterday of a small amount due to the Bank, the market cleared off the remainder of its indebtedness to that institution. Money was in fairly good supply, and borrowers, as a rule, were able to satisfy their requirements at 3½ to 3¾ per cent., although occasionally higher rates were paid. Weekly fixtures went on at 3 p.c. There was rather more inquiry for bills, and the tone of the discount market was none too firm. No change, however, was made in rates, three months' bank drafts being quoted at 3⅞-4 p.c., and second-hand Treasuries at 3⅞. Bar silver was easier, the spot price falling 1d. to 32·4d., and forward ½d. to 32d. per oz., owing to an absence of demand. Gold remained at 84s. 11½d. per fine oz. A small amount in the open market was taken for India. Bar gold valued at £70,000 was sold by the Bank of England.

Alterations in the principal foreign exchanges were less important than of late. French francs finished slightly better at 121.80, after touching 122½, but Belgian francs lost the previous day's trifling appreciation, and lire were not quite so good. The currencies of Norway, Denmark and Holland depreciated to some extent. The sterling dollar rate recovered to nearly 4.84⅞. In the South American group, Argentine dollars and the Brazilian milreis were better. The Hong Kong and Shanghai rates improved to 2s. 4¼d. and 3s. 1¾d., respectively, but the yen was easier at 1s. 8d.

STEWART INSTITUTION FOR IMBECILE CHILDREN.

The Managing Committee of the Stewart Institution for Imbecile Children met on Monday last, in their offices, Molesworth street. Mr. A. F. Blood, K.C., presided, and there were also present:—Messrs. S. P. Wilmot, J. P. Beater, LL.B.; F. C. Earle Bland, C.I.E., and A. D. Price.

The Medical Superintendent (G. H. Keene, M.D.) reported favourably as to the health of the institution since last month's meeting, and redecorating of the entire building, as ordered, had been nearly completed. Accounts paid last month were vouched, and those now passed for payment, cheques being drawn to the extent of £911 12/2.

A number of applications from candidates for the approaching election had been received, and these were carefully examined and a selection made as to those suitable to be put forward. Voting papers will be issued very shortly for the election on 5th prox. In the meantime, no further applications can be entertained for this election.

The following annual subscriptions were announced:—Charles Drummond, Esq., £6 6/-; John Jameson and Son, Ltd., £5 5/-; Mrs. E. Clarke, £4 4/-; Mrs. Crosfield, £3 3/-; Right Hon. Earl of Iveagh, G. N. Jacob, Esq.; Mrs. Riddall, John Falconer, Esq.; Theodore Pim, Esq., and Lady Madden, Messrs. Millar and Beatty, Ltd.; Mrs. Madden, Messrs. Mills, Mrs. Mills, Geo. E. Low, Esq.; R. W. Booth, Esq.; Miss L. M. Montgomery, Messrs. Dockrell, Sons and Co., Ltd., and J. B. Carswell, Esq., £2 each. Mrs. J. Barton and Garrett W. Walker, Esq., £1 each; Mrs. Cave, Miss Prior, Mrs. Clifford Lloyd, H. Maude, Esq.; Rev. J. H. Yates, Mrs. J. F. Gill, and "M.," 10/6 each.

Also the following donation from Anonymous—"to help to support poor children," £5.

Donations qualifying as Presidents, Vice-Presidents and Governors, are earnestly solicited. Elected children are largely dependent on voluntary contributions, as the institution has no endowment or public grant whatever.

Contributions will be thankfully received by any member of committee, or by the Secretary at the office. An annual subscription of 10/6 gives one vote; a donation of £5 5/- gives one life vote.

There are 124 pupils in the institution at the present time.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

PROSPECTS IN ARGENTINA.

The Anglo-South American Bank has received the following telegram, dated Buenos Ayres, 5th November:—"The Argentine Inland Revenue Department announces that receipts on account of internal taxation in the period January-September, 1925, amounted to $79,615,673 (paper), which compares with $71,649,852 in the first nine months of 1924. Practically the whole of this advance resulted from increased receipts from the alcohol tax, which yielded $12,421,655 (paper), as against only $4,500,655. A slight and scattered rainfall has occurred over the agricultural zone. There is no change to report in prospects for the wheat, linseed, and oats crops since the date of our last cable. With regard to maize, ploughing and sowing operations are proceeding very actively."

INDIAN TEA PLANTING COMPANIES' RESULTS.

The Indian Tea Share Exchange forwards the 28th issue of their annual table containing an exhaustive analysis of the working for the year 1924 of 65 of the leading Indian tea companies, having a share and Debenture capital of £15¾ millions. The tea crops show a decrease of 14 million pounds, and costs have risen by over 1½d. This is due partly to higher exchange and to coolie pay being larger, but also owing to extra expenditure for buildings and machinery. The average sale price, on the other hand, is also 1½d. higher than last year, so that profit per lb. remains at the very satisfactory figure of 7¼d. per lb., being equal to nearly 35 per cent. on the total share and Debentire capital. Reserves continue to expand, about £1,400,000 having been set aside from 1924 profits. The Chart is for sale, price 1s. 8d. post free.

NEW FOREIGN LOANS.

Several South American loans are likely to be issued in London as soon as the preliminaries are arranged, and it is even suggested that the Federal Government of Brazil may be amongst the early borrowers. That Brazil needs a loan is no secret; her ability to raise it in London depends upon the progress made in the rehabilitation of the milreis. Great strides are being made in this direction, but not always with the approval of the people in that country, who, in particular, resent the policy of deflation. This policy is the result of the recommendations of the British Commission, and its adoption, with the improving trade balance, is responsible for the appreciation in the milreis. A continuance of the policy, and Brazil, by her expression of sincerity, will have established a good reason for approaching the London Money market.

AUSTIN REED'S CAPITAL.

The directors of Austin Reed and Co., Ltd., hosiers and outfitters, are making an issue at par of 140,000 8 per cent. Cumulative Preference Shares of £1, payable 5s. on application and 16s. on allotment. The fixed dividend on the Preference Shares is calculated half-yearly to February 20 and August 20, and is payable on May 1 and November 1, the first dividend on the new shares being calculated from the date of allotment to February 20, 1926.

CONTANGO DAYS.

The Committee of the London Stock Exchange announce that, subject to confirmation at its meeting on the 23rd
